Injured—Loss
$75,000

BOSTON, May 8.—Ten buildings were burned and 120 horses killed by a fire which caused a loss of $75,000 in the Roxbury district early today. Several tenement dwellers had narrow escapes and one man, George Engman, was so seriously injured as to require hospital treatment.

The fire was caused by the overturning of a kettle of hot fat in the Luncheon Sea grill on Warren street and soon spread to other buildings on Ziegler street and Harrison avenue. One of the buildings destroyed was the H. N. Cook livery stable, in which 121 horses were quartered. Only one of the horses was saved.

ON WAY TO HOSPITAL

Patrick Halloran Died
Suddenly Today

Patrick Halloran, aged 52 years, and residing at 29 Marion street, died suddenly this morning while on his way to the hospital, where he was being removed by the ambulance.

At 10:45 o'clock this forenoon, Mr. Halloran was walking on Broadway, presumably going to his home. When he reached the corner of Adams street, he dropped to the sidewalk, apparently in an unconscious condition. The ambulance was summoned in haste and the sick man was removed to the Lowell hospital, but he breathed his last before reaching the institution.

Deceased is survived by a wife and a brother, James. The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertakers J. P. O'Donnell & Sons.

THRILLING FEAT
IN RUNAWAYHack Driver Showed Wonderful
Agility—Jumped on Pole Between Galloping Horses

One of the most spectacular runaways that ever took place in this city occurred this morning in Market street. When two heavy, high spirited black horses, owned by Undertaker Joseph Albert, and hitched to a new hack, broke loose at the corner of Dutton and Market streets, after being frightened by the dummy engine of the Boston & Maine railroad. Many people who witnessed the wild race of the horses claim it is almost miraculous that no damage was caused, or no lives lost, for when the driver attempted to bring his horses to a stop, one of the reins snapped. The driver did not lose his head, but quickly jumped on the back pole between the horses and with the aid of the check reins guided the mad animals between vehicles of all sorts, at the risk of his own life. He finally succeeded in stopping the runaway, but not before several narrow escapes had been effected. The feat rivaled anything seen in a circus and far surpassed the Roman chariot races seen in circuses, where in every instance the driver is experienced and well trained to such a feat.

The horses were in charge of Mr. Albert's manager, Joseph Theriault, of 12 Dodge street, and were standing at the corner of Market and Dutton streets shortly before eight o'clock, awaiting the time to start for a funeral under the direction of Undertaker P. H. Savage. The dummy engine of the Boston & Maine at the time was shifting cars near the Y. M. C. A. building, and the racket from the exhaust of the engine scared one of the horses. Mr. Theriault, who was seated on the driver's seat, endeavored to quiet his horse, but his efforts were fruitless. Finally the horses started abreast at breakneck speed up Market street. There were several hacks lined in the street, but Mr. Theriault managed to drive the animals without any collision. The horses were going as fast as they could gallop, while the driver was doing his very best to check their speed.

When the horses reached a point near the corner of Worthen street, one of the reins snapped, and several of the other hackmen shouted to the driver to jump for his life, for they were of the opinion he would never escape alive. Without losing his head Mr. Theriault took a leap and landed on the back pole between the two mad

ORDERED WORK STOPPED

Inspector Connor is Not Satisfied With Building

Francis Connor, inspector of buildings, has ordered work stopped on the building, 525-535 Merrimack street. This is the old Teague estate, and on April 3 a permit to make alterations, including the changing of the roof from a pitch to a square roof, adding bay windows and making other interior additions and alterations, was granted to Carmen Kell, who has purchased the property.

Carpenters have been at work on the building for some time, the bay windows have been added and considerable inside work has been done. Inspector Connor examined the work yesterday and as a result of his visit and examination stopped the work for the time being, on the ground, it is understood, that more work is being done than is represented in the permit. Mr. Connor had a conference with Mr. Kell this morning and will meet him again this afternoon.

The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertakers Young & Blake, where it was viewed by Medical Examiner Joe V. Meigs, who later signed the certificate "Suicide by hanging."

What led Lindsay to commit this act is not known, but it is believed it was despondency over illness, for deceased had been in poor health for some time. In order to recuperate

Joyce vs. Polish National Home Association

The case of Joyce vs. Polish National Home Association of Lowell was taken up again this morning at the opening of the superior court session, and up to the recess the plaintiff's side had not completed its case. The case is an action in which both parties lay claim to certain fixtures in real estate bought by the defendant, which plaintiff charges defendant has converted to its own use. The ad damnum clause is $3000.

This morning several witnesses were placed on the stand by Mr. J. J. Hogan, counsel for the plaintiff, and among them were witnesses for the defense. Prominent among those to take the stand was Mr. Joyce, the plaintiff in the case, and his testimony was practically a repetition of some of the charges in the plaintiff's declaration. Mr. Joyce testified that the defendant had removed from the premises a certain fixture, and that he had been notified by the defendant that he was to be removed. He testified that he had been notified by the defendant that he was to be removed. He testified that he had been notified by the defendant that he was to be removed.

DR. FRIEDMANN'S CURE

Criticized at the National Asso. of Study Meeting

WASHINGTON, May 8.—One of the adverse factors that are retarding the prevention of the white plague was the characterization applied to Dr. Friedrich Friedmann's tuberculosis cure by one of the physicians at the opening address of the meeting of the National Assn. for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. "Nothing like the series of events," said the speaker, "which followed the announcement of the Friedmann cure in Berlin has hitherto occurred in the tuberculosis campaign. Only those who have been engaged from day to day in inducing state and local authorities to appropriate funds can appreciate how vastly difficult this task has been made in the last few months by the extremely effective press agents of Dr. Friedmann. Thus far it has not been evident to me as a layman that any of those who have had to do with the subject in this country have won much credit. When the Friedmann cure has taken its legitimate place and perchance has been forgotten we shall remember these proceedings coming from every home which the announcement of the cure summoned to our vision."

The following members of the advisory board of the industrial school met in the school committee room at city hall last night and entered into a general discussion of the school and its work: Agent Thomas, of the Boot mills; Agent Mitchell, of the Massachusetts mills; Secretary John H. Murphy, of the board of trade; Charles H. Nelson, contractor; John H. Johnson, contractor; Mr. Kimball, machinist at the Tremont & Suffolk mills; Felix Langevin, foreman at the Kitzon Machine shop; Miss M. J. O'Hearn, of the White all Mfg. Co.; Mrs. A. E. Talked to the Boys

Mr. Lucius A. Derby, by request of Principal Fisher of the Industrial School, visited the school this morning and addressed the boys who are taking up electrical work at the school. There are about 40 boys in the class.

Mr. Derby gave the boys a very interesting talk. He told them what he would expect of a boy who would apply for a position in his office and told of his own experience. He outlined the problems that the electrician is up against, and admonished them to make every minute count while at school. He told them that fixing wires so that they would tickle a bell and make it ring didn't constitute an electrician. He said there are a great many boys who want to be electricians who are not adapted for it. He told of boys he had had in his office who were not fitted for the business and he was obliged to let them go. That does not mean, he said, that they were not fitted for anything else. These boys went out and made good at something else. They didn't have the opportunity that is afforded you. One of the principles of this school is to find out what the boy is fitted for. If you are not fitted for an electrician he will tell you, and then it is up to you to try something else.

Mr. Derby installed the first airclock in Lowell, and he gave an insight into the history of the business in Lowell. He told of the difficulties he had encountered and pointed out how they could be avoided. He told the boys to keep their eyes open, to acquaint themselves thoroughly with mathematics, and to learn to write a good plain hand. He told them to remain in school as long as possible and to improve every moment.

Mr. Derby told Principal Fisher that he would be glad to come and talk to the boys at any time. Mr. Fisher said today that it is his intention to have men representing the different trades talk to the boys at different times. Good practical talks that will inspire them and encourage them in their work. Mr. Fisher stated today that everything is going along very well at the school, but that in order to perfect the work it will be necessary to have a new school building. He says a new school is necessary in order that the principal may keep in touch with all of the departments all of the time. As it is at present, he says, he is here, there and everywhere, and he is not accomplishing as much as he would like to accomplish or as could be accomplished were the conditions more favorable.

Two Italians Rescued, Little Injured, by Fellow Laborers in Clarendon Street Excavation

BOSTON, May 8.—When the wall of a trench on Clarendon street, near St. James avenue, where contractors are laying a gas main for the city, collapsed at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Frank Cicero, 45 years old, of 7 Margaret street, and Felicit Malzi, 43 years old, of the same address, were buried under the earth and compelled to remain there until other workmen rescued them. Neither of the laborers was severely hurt, being treated at the City hospital for abrasions of the arms and body.

When the accident occurred a fireman alighted from an outward-bound car on St. James avenue, and smelling gas and thinking there had been an explosion, gave an alarm from box 50. District Chiefs Byron and Sennott and considerable apparatus soon arrived, but their services were not required, even to rescue the men.

For Age-Marred Skins and Dull, Streaky Hair

(From American Press)

Fine lines and that aged condition of the skin are caused by pore-clogging powders and creams. These should be discarded for a spumax lotion which seems a part of skin when on and is easily made at home at little cost by dissolving 4 ounces spumax in 1/2 pint witch hazel (or hot water) then adding 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine. This facelotion protects the skin against the ravages of sun and wind, removes tan, freckles, oiliness and other upsets and lends an indefinable charm to the complexion. An invigorating and pleasing shampoo can easily be made by dissolving a teaspoonful camphor in a cup of hot water. This creates an abundance of rich, cleansing lather which is positive benefit to your scalp and hair. After rinsing, your hair will dry quickly and evenly with a brilliance and silky softness. Truly charming. Camphor, which costs little at the drug-gist, removes dandruff, makes the scalp healthy and promotes an abundant growth.

LOT OWNERS AT THE EDSON

Say Foreman Must Be In Sympathy With Them

Delegates Talked Matters Over With Mr. Cummings

James Gunn, Warren A. Bishop, Charles A. Stevens, A. A. Welton and J. A. Bailey, members from the Lot Owners' association of the Edson cemetery, had a conference last night with Commissioner Cummings at city hall. The delegation made it very plain that they did not think there was any need of an assistant to the superintendent of the cemetery.

The principal objection concerned the recent provisional appointment of Michael H. Finnegan as foreman, assisting the superintendent. It was stated that the lot owners do not want any position of this kind created; that it was believed Mr. Finnegan had only been held in the place until the superintendent, Mr. Duckworth, had got in touch with affairs there.

In the course of the discussion Mr. Cummings took occasion to remark that all of the people of the city of Lowell have contributed towards paying for the cemetery, and that in the last 25 years the expenditures have been about $65,000 greater than the receipts. Recent administrations of the cemetery, under the former board of trustees as well as under the present form of government, have shown a yearly sum of money on the credit side. Asked for figures for the past five years, Mr. Cummings produced the following:

	Expended	Received
1908	$5,222.52	$10,612.76
1909	5,622.92	11,612.95
1910	7,641.74	12,283.55
1911	11,222.70	10,141.33
1912	8,223.25	10,634.89

Mr. Cummings said that the present year would show a very substantial saving. At present about $800 more in receipts has come in than had at the corresponding time, he said.

Mr. Stevens said he felt that the appointment of the late Robert Gilmore as foreman at a salary of $1100 a year was merely one made to allow the superintendent to profit by the experience of a former superintendent. He said that the lot owners wanted a man, if one were chosen for foreman, who was in sympathy with them.

Mr. Welton said: "I think that is a natural feeling, the more so when the burial ground's employees are taken into account. They know that the man who was provisionally appointed as foreman was not experienced and not in sympathy with the lot owners."

Mr. Cummings: "I feel that Mr. Finnegan would have made a very good man for the cemetery. The school board, when it had a choice to make in selecting a new janitor, found no fault with him. He was the first man on the list and they took him. I have no idea at the present time of appointing anybody, but if I do feel the need of a foreman, I shall ask the Massachusetts civil service commission to call for competitive examinations, and shall ask especially that this call be for men who have some practical experience in gardening."

Mr. Gunn said: "The principal fault I have to complain about is that the superintendents of the cemetery have never had any practical knowledge of gardening. One man was a dry goods clerk. Another one worked in an express office. It looks as if the only requisite for the place was political pull. What experience does our present superintendent of cemeteries possess?"

Mr. Duckworth: "I am not a gardener, but I can get enough information to carry the work along all right."

Mr. Gunn: "We ought to have a man who is a first class gardener there."

Mr. Welton: "I don't agree entirely. I think that a man should be able to handle help well."

Mr. Gunn: "I have seen active minded men fool superintendents who did not have practical knowledge of their work, because they knew such superintendents didn't have any practical knowledge."

Mr. Cummings: "Supposing I should suggest that I would like a practical man for foreman, with a knowledge of gardening, would he be all right?"

Mr. Stevens: "If he had the very necessary quality of sympathy with those who own lots there."

Mr. Cummings: "There is hardly a cemetery in the state, in a city of this size, which does not have a foreman, to take the place on occasion, of the superintendent. No protest was ever made before by the lot owners about superintendents who were not practical men. The man who is superintendent now is an enthusiast in his work."

Mr. Gunn: "I might be an enthusiast on a thing, and still have very little practical knowledge of it."

Mr. Cummings: "The designation of a man as 'foreman' will not mean that any more employees will be put on in the department. That man, of course, would get a little additional pay."

Mr. Gunn: "Isn't Mr. Taylor capable?"

Mr. Cummings: "Well, the civil service commission does not say he can hold the job of foreman."

Mr. Gunn: "Mr. Taylor is a rather

MAINE MAN HUNT ENDS FIFTH KILLED IN 4 DAYS

Charles Roderick is Re-Shot Fired From Shadow of Doorway captured

NEWPORT, Me., May 7.—An abrupt finale came to a four days' man hunt with bloodhound accompaniment to efforts of a posse of constables, sheriffs, deputy volunteers and camp followers, when a policeman of this village last night tapped a rather unkempt fellow on the shoulder, bidding him come to the lockup, thus recapturing Charles Roderick, wanted at Foxcroft on a young girl's accusation and for breaking jail.

A rusty Queen Anne musket, long past usability, went along with Roderick, and the countryside between Foxcroft and Bangor breathes easier today.

FIRST IT WAS A HORSE

Then a Dog and Finally a Heifer

Somebody telephoned to the office of the board of health on Monday afternoon that there was a horse in Hale's brook.

"Dead or alive?" asked the fellow on the board of health end of the wire.

"Dead as a door nail," came the response.

The board of health man said that the dead horse would be attended to and a moment later the telephone "peeped" again.

"What is it?" queried the man who was endeavoring to decide what to do with the dead horse.

"There's a Newfoundland dog in Hale's brook," piped a high-voiced woman on the other end of the line.

"Sure it's a dog?" asked the board of health man.

"Of course it's a dog."

"Dead or alive?"

"If he was alive I wouldn't be telephoning."

"You're sure it isn't a water horse or a hippo?"

"Come and see for yourself," and hang went the telephone.

It looked like a joke to the board of health man, and he dismissed it for the time being. He decided, however, to investigate on the comin' of the morn and men were sent out to look Hale's brook over in the vicinity of Tanner street.

He told them what to look for and a little later the men reported back to the office that they had found the body of a heifer in the brook.

"It has been connected with this department a good many years," said Agent Eates, "but this is my first experience with a horse-dog-heifer."

DRAPERS PLAN COLONY

To Expend $2,000,000 for Housing Help

BOSTON, May 7.—That a home-building enterprise involving an expenditure of some $2,000,000 is being steadily pushed toward completion by the Draper company for the housing of its employees was confirmed yesterday by Manager F. J. Dutcher.

"Yes," said he, "we are planning to build houses on 12 acres of that is now rough land and will rush to completion at once 50 acres. This project will provide for comfortable homes with modern conveniences, including an adequate sewer system. There ultimately will be 300 double houses, entailing an outlay of $2,000,000."

"The plans are not yet in final shape, but the dwellings will be approximately duplications of the present cottages."

When asked if the present strike at Hopedale would influence the Draper company against the project Manager Dutcher stated emphatically that work would be continued throughout any labor troubles.

Commissioner Brown Replies

Commissioner Brown, in reply to statements made at the meeting of the municipal council on Tuesday has issued the following statement:

I was head of the department of streets and highways and put in loan order and no allowance was made for extra cost of excavation and new blocks to be purchased, for estimate was made with intention of old block being recut.

The present commissioner of streets and highways did not, I know, call attention to the fact that there were about 100,000 paving blocks on hand which had been recut and paid for, but he did mention that there were blocks on hand, which, if they have not been paid, have been charged up to unpaid liabilities.

I have asked the civil engineer to forward to me certain data in regard to paving and also have requested commissioner of streets to verify his statement, but I have had no response to my request.

NEW YORK, May 7.—Gunmen of the East Side killed their fifth man within four days today. He was Antonio Scamorrino, formerly of Dayton, Ohio. The assassin fired a shotgun, firing from the shadow of a doorway, and escaped. The four other recent murders include that of David Minzer, shot during the rush hour last night by three gangsters on the Williamsburg bridge.

TRIAL OF I. W. W. LEADER

Charged With Inciting Workers to Riot

PATERSON, N. J., May 6.—The prosecution had a half a dozen witnesses to call today at the trial of Patrick Quinlan, the Industrial Workers of the World leader indicted with W. L. Haywood for inciting silk mill workers to riot and it was not thought that the state would rest until late this afternoon. The penalty for inciting riot in New Jersey is a $2,000 fine or seven years imprisonment, or both. Quinlan's defense is that he did not reach the scene where the alleged rioting occurred until after the strikers had departed. Haywood and the others are to be tried later.

The defense announced today that it proposed to call nearly a hundred witnesses. If this is done it will mean that the case will not be finished until well along in next week.

GRAHAM FLOUR DEFINED

By United States Bureau of Chemistry

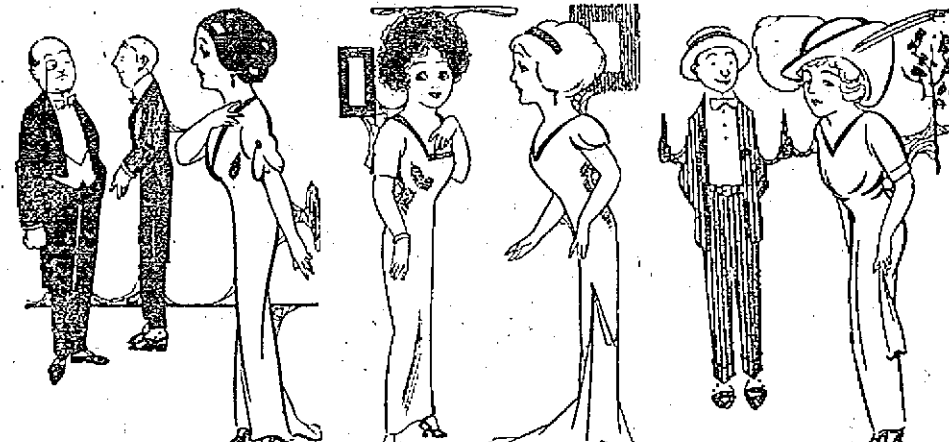

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Having learned that many so called graham flours on the market contain sweepings from the mill and that they often contain "red dog," the lowest grade of flour produced, as well as bran and other by-products, the United States bureau of chemistry has defined true graham flour as "unbolted wheat meal made from sound, clean, fully matured or dried wheat." This is the result of an extensive investigation just completed. The bureau holds that mixtures should be labelled "imitation graham flour." This distinction is not compelled by pure food decisions but is advised by the bureau of chemistry.

FISH AND GAME LEAGUE

restock the covers for birds. Then it will be up to the hunters and fishermen to practice self restraint until the old time fishing and shooting has been restored. It seems like a long wait, but it doesn't take long after all.

The speakers at last night's meeting included Salem D. Charles, president of the Massachusetts Fish and Game Protective Association. Mr. Charles is also one of Boston's street commissioners. Other speakers were George H. Graham, commissioner of fisheries and game, and John B. Smith, secretary of the Massachusetts Fish and Game League.

Willis E. Holt called the meeting to order and Simon R. Harris was chosen presiding officer for the evening. Upon calling to order Mr. Holt expressed his satisfaction at so good a meeting and he said the meeting was an important one because it meant more fish and more game for Lowell. He said that the formation of a fish and game association would mean a better enforcement of the laws and a greater general interest in the streams, ponds and woods about Lowell.

Commissioner Graham, of Springfield was the first speaker called upon by Chairman Harris. He was very much pleased with the meeting and gave as his opinion that Lowell would have one of the largest associations in the state. He spoke of the big organization in Springfield and said that the meetings were very beneficial inasmuch as they were instrumental in educating the sportsmen. "Times and conditions are changing," said Mr. Graham, "and some sportsmen are going to the idea they had in boyhood days. We must practice self restraint. We must curtail until we get stocked. Until the game has been brought we will have to curtail our sport. Sportsmen are increasing and game decreasing. There are more fishermen than hunters—perhaps 150,000 in Massachusetts. The improved fire-arms, bird dogs, etc., have depleted our covers. Under the new law we will have better shooting in ten years. We are going to send out a supply of white and yellow perch to Lowell from the Palmer hatchery for your brooks and ponds and I believe that the Merrimack river, despite its pollution, can produce fish. You should get busy with your representatives and senators and tell them to see to it that Lowell gets all that is coming to her in the way of fish and game."

Right here in Massachusetts we have the best warden system in the United States; the wardens are not selected for political reasons. The merit system is applied to them and every sportsman should work in unison with the wardens. They need our cooperation and it is necessary for them to have in order to do the work as it should be done.

John B. Smith, secretary of the Massachusetts Fish and Game League, was the next speaker. He said, in part: "There isn't a fisherman nor a hunter within the limits of the commonwealth of Massachusetts who is satisfied with conditions as they exist today, relative to the interests of inland fisheries and game. Notwithstanding improvements noted recently, in acquiring one good fish hatchery on the Cape, and the building of another near Palmer, together with the installation of a game farm nearby, it is nevertheless a fact that inland fishing and hunting conditions are deplorable. The existence of the 'roughs' is due, chiefly, to two causes, one being the chronic indifference manifested by the state. In the past, in not having enacted suitable and timely legislation calculated to conserve, through propagation and rational restriction, our fish and game, while the other is the wanton, predigally indulged in by the average sportsman during the past twenty years. These, I think are the two main causes of the conditions which have long confronted us."

"What the sportsmen of Massachusetts want is a remedy and we believe we have found one that is not only a cure for present ills, but a strong assurance that we shall not have a recurrence of similar ailments in the future, once we are in shape to apply the remedy."

"The vital importance of a state-wide league has been realized for a long time. Such a league was organized in Worcester last March and its headquarters are located in Springfield. The league has adopted the slogan of more fish and more game in Massachusetts."

"We all want to restore the good old days when you and I, and all of us, could hike to the hills and covers with rod or gun, doubly inspired, with the assurance that we were to have an opportunity, at least, to capture a fair and reasonably sized basket of fish or bag of game. All that we need to restore former conditions is to unite with this state-wide league, making it so large and powerful in its influence and its voting constituency, as to command the attention and consideration due at the hands of our legislators."

Salem D. Charles, president of the Massachusetts Fish and Game Protective Association, spoke on the necessity of better protection for the game. He stated that one day or a week each year, when the hunting is good is much better than a half year when the supply of game is insufficient to supply the demands of the hunters. He also urged the formation of a fish and game association that would further the work in which he is interested.

Later in the evening the body voted to form an organization to be known as the "Lowell Fish and Game Association" and the following officers were chosen: President, L. A. Derby; first vice president, Fred G. Humphreys; second vice president, Harry Gonzalez; secretary, William McCarthy; treasurer, Caleb Smith. The body later chose an executive committee, consisting of five members and the president, secretary and treasurer. The following were chosen to serve on the executive committee: W. S. Holt, Sen. H. J. Draper, Charles A. Blaisdell, Henry Quirbach and Mr. Grant.

UNDERWOOD TARIFF BILL

Engrossed Today for Presentation to House

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Delayed in its passage last night by a parliamentary technicality, the Underwood tariff bill was engrossed today for presentation to the house at its hour of meeting, 2 p. m.

Because of the democratic insistence on a point of order when the republican motion to recommmit the bill to the ways and means committee with a view to forcing a tariff commission provision on the reading of the bill in its engrossed form was made necessary. The parliamentary incident of both the majority and the minority prepared today for the final fray over the point of order but the result in view of the large democratic majority in the house was a foregone conclusion. Meantime the democratic leaders in the senate were preparing for the consideration of the bill there.

There is talk among the house leaders of taking a recess of about 30 days during the senate consideration of the tariff. While there have been individual conferences on the subject the fact that the president has not communicated his views on currency legislation at this session of congress has precluded any formal consideration so far as to what the house shall do when it disposes of the tariff.

THE WATER QUESTION

Commissioner Barrett sounds the alarm that there is iron in the city water, but he seems to forget that certain cities and towns have become famous as health resorts from the reputation of having iron in their water. Why not give Lowell a chance to be the rendezvous of tourists in some degree like Carlsbad, Hot Springs, Mt. Clemens and Saratoga?

It is wonderful what an attraction a city or town becomes that gets a reputation for mineral waters—especially iron water. This was forcibly shown at one time in a neighboring town when one of our esteemed citizens, noted for his fund of humor, announced that this particular town had a fine mineral spring. Crowds were told, docked there, and found the well and the mineral spring too; but it was an elliptical wagon spring and the joke set the town laughing.

We hope Mr. Barrett's alarming statements relative to an excess of iron in the water are based upon some more reliable data; but we are not prepared to accept the unconfirmed statement of Engineer Barbour, however great his reputation as sanitary engineer. The public is accustomed to depend upon expert chemists rather than upon contracting engineers for analysis of water, milk, and foodstuffs in general.

But if there is serious trouble with our water system why would it not have been better to have left the water rates as they were when the 25 per cent. reduction was announced, and use the surplus revenues for meeting the urgent needs of the department? There is something very inconsistent in the business policy of declaring a 25 per cent. reduction in water rates and then coming out with a statement that the defects of the system might involve the ultimate possibility of abandoning the driven wells and resorting to river water through a filter bed to cost $400,000.

Commissioner Barrett seems to be acting upon the advice or the opinion of one man and one who is interested in securing contracts, the engineer, we believe who had charge of building the new reservoir. That gentleman, according to his own statement, has taken but a single sample of sand for an analysis as to "effective size" and "coefficient of uniformity," terms which only an expert like Mr. Barrett can understand. This is made clear in Mr. Barbour's voluminous letter of April 8th, in which he says:

"It is noted, however, that our information in regard to the character of the soil is based on a sample taken from one point in the available territory, and the next question is whether this fine sand extends over the whole field. It is quite possible that at some other point coarser material may be found over an area sufficient to justify the proposed undertakings, and it would seem advisable to make such examination of the ground as will prove whether this is true or not."

Thus, it appears, that the expert admits that his test of the sand whose filtration properties are discussed was made from a single sample which is not conclusive. With the boulevard wells we understand there is an alleged clogging up that limits the quantity and that there is also an excess of iron.

We do not believe that Commissioner Barrett is justified in drawing any general conclusion from the test thus far made by Mr. Barbour. To do so would be to adopt the rule "ex uno, discite omnes," or from one, judge all, a rule which we believe Mr. Barrett would not care to have applied to the municipal council.

We do not believe that there is anything the matter with the boulevard wells that cannot be easily remedied. This well plant, like any other, will suffer deterioration by long service and that must be provided for just as the head of a large factory provides for depreciation of machinery. But to assume that a water system which has given us for twenty years the very best water in the state, is nearing a point at which it will fail both in quality and in quantity is more than the general public will credit upon the word of Mr. Barbour or any other individual. The experimental stations which Commissioner Barrett would establish may serve a necessary purpose or they may not. We believe that their establishment if for purely experimental purposes at a reasonable expense is warranted, provided the results be certified to by experts whose specific findings will convince the public as to their absolute reliability.

Mr. Barrett has done some praiseworthy things since he took charge of the water department; but he can easily spoil it all by starting a needless scare by needless construction and needless loans.

ENGLISH WOMAN SUFFRAGE DEFEATED

Not because they love woman suffrage less, but because they love home rule more, the Irish parliamentary party in the English house of commons has made possible the defeat of the woman suffrage bill. Its adoption would have resulted in the resignation of Premier Asquith—as announced by his own declaration—and the consequent formation of a new ministry, with a possible danger to the Irish cause, which now seems on the eve of victory. The first consideration of the Irish members is the fulfillment of their promise to the people of Ireland, and the ultimate triumph of the cause so long and so vigorously fought, and therefore they steered clear of danger, and by a splendid tactical move voted solidly against the proposed woman suffrage bill.

This is by no means the first time that the Irish members of parliament have demonstrated their strength of union at a most critical time, and it is a tribute to the wise leadership of Hon. John E. Redmond, who seems to have inspired his followers with the same enthusiasm and perseverance which makes him unique among parliamentarians. He has many times demonstrated the qualities of a born leader, and his tact and calm judgment have often saved the bark of Irish hope from dashing on many a rock of dangerous legislation. By their solid, united vote the Irish members have cleared the way for the second passing of the home rule measure and its final enactment into law.

TEACHERS' BANQUET

The teachers of Lowell deserve much praise for the growth of their organization which, though only a few years in existence, has already been instrumental in creating a spirit of intelligent and hearty co-operation among its members, and doing much good for the cause of education.

Not the least of its achievements has been the periodical bringing here of eminent educators. The hearing of the views of such men broadens the view-point of the individual teacher, and gives the organization many vital subjects for consideration and discussion. At their banquet on Tuesday evening they enjoyed a rare treat in the address of the witty and brilliant William F. McAndrew, principal of the Washington Irving High school of New York city, a most unique school with an attendance of 6000 girls.

Mr. McAndrew's talk was a plea for the cultivation of the human element in the relations of pupil and teacher. He spoke of the new mission of the instructors of youth who no longer deal out education as a commodity, but bring out the best efforts of the pupils and do so without forfeiting their love or respect. He urged the cultivation of a larger humanity, and painted the road of the modern school teacher as one of flowers and brightness, compared with the dismal, uninviting path of the pedagogue and schoolmaster of old. He revived thoughts that were once awakened by the great-souled Dickens in "Dombey and Son" and "Nicholas Nickleby."

THE SALISBURY WRONG

No method of legitimate persuasion should be left untried by the Lowell senators and the fellow legislators whom they may be able to influence, to defeat the Salisbury reservation bill which has now gone before the upper house. It is already condemned by the unanimous voice of the city. It is certainly unjust and a great many think it illegal. Even if constitutional, the question has gone to the state supreme court, which is to give a decision as to the constitutionality of the act, and no further action should be taken until this decision is given.

The argument of those in the lower house who supported the measure, that Lowell approved the bill last year and therefore should support it this year, is neither well nor fairly grounded. Certain parties did secure an endorsement of the bill on the representation that it would never cost the city anything and that the revenues of the beach would more than pay all expenses.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Opera House
Commencing this afternoon and evening and for the remainder of the four days' engagement here at the Opera House, the famous Kinema-color pictures of "The Coronation" will be shown in conjunction with those of "The Balkan War" and "The Panama Canal." So realistic is the magic of this long sought process that every color of nature, whether it be the scarlet of some strange tropical blossom or the indigo of the summer seas that wash the islands on either side, is reproduced in all exactitude and in every exquisite shading for the benefit of the spectator. And as well does the natural color reproduce the actual scenes of warfare for the spectator.

The engagement here of the Kinema-color pictures is for four days more and will positively end next Sunday night. Seats for all performances are now on sale.

Keith's Theatre
"It Happened in New York," a musical comedy with a lot of songs and dances, Charles Saunders and a cast of 15 pretty girls, will be the principal feature at the B. F. Keith theatre this evening. The play is a positively announced yesterday. The feature comedy is in two acts, and there are 15 musical numbers in it. In addition to the songs and dances, the cast includes "The Aviator Girl," a new wrinkle in entertainment, with Miss Bertie Murray in the flying machine, and the new comedy "The Honey Fair," a musical comedy in three scenes, is being headlined. "The Rub," a character comedy with a song and a dance, is one of the new hits of the entire week's program, while Ben Smith, a tenor singer, warbles "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" and "The Song of the Sea." Mr. Smith was until recently, partner in a sketch with Huxley Jennings, manager of the Detroit theatre.

Children and the Burros in Glorious Colorado
"One of the happiest remembrances of my youth," wrote a Chicago man, "is the month I spent in Colorado as a youngster with my burro. Many a joyous jaunt I had with that shaggy, little, wise-eyed fellow, with the patience of Job and the love of a wanderer. We had in the lowly fields and on the sun-checked, pine-tapestried trails of that wonder state. Since then I have always seemed to me that nothing more delightful can happen to a boy or girl than to be turned out 'o'-doors in Colorado with a burro."

It is a fact that nothing can be more beneficial to your children than the out-o'-doors life they lead in Colorado. Summer there is ideal and nothing can you and your family spend a few weeks more comfortably and at more reasonable cost than in Colorado. Look ahead to the vacation that's coming and let it help you decide on when and where and how to go. I have all the information here in my copy of "How to Go—Hotel and Boarding House Rates—and a mighty readable book on Colorado with maps and pictures and full details. Call or write for this booklet and let me tell you about the new, low price excursion tickets to Colorado.

Merrimack Square Theatre
Everyone who sees "Quincy Adams Sawyer," this week at the Merrimack Square theatre rises from his seat refreshed. The play is a tonic in its brightness and in these "tired" feeling days is a welcome departure from the every day run of theatricals.

For the Sunday concert to be given Sunday Manager Carroll has arranged to have "Compton" give the Allegretto and his favorite songbirds and a number of other good vaudeville acts and photo-plays.

Next week "Sapho" will be the attraction. It will be given with Miss Grace Young & Co. and will also allow her opportunity to wear for the first time her famous Grecian gown.

Theatre Voyons
Today a Biograph, "The Wanderer," will be one of the features of the program at the Theatre Voyons. It tells a romantic story in a most poetic manner and is much like a previous Biograph success, "Pippa Passes." The scenes are laid in Southern California and the costumes are Spanish. The acting is superb and the plot one that makes one think. "When the Right Man Comes Along" written and acted by Mary Fuller and her company is an excellent picture out of the many but none the less most amusing.

The Casino
"You and I have had many merry times together, but this certainly beats them all." So spoke a rosy cheeked young woman as she left the Casino the other night. It was not to be wondered at. For genuine, wholesome amusement, of the kind in Massachusetts. Every night and on Saturday afternoon, the big Casino orchestra gives concerts to which the public is invited.

STRIKE SETTLED
Granite Cutters Won Their Point and Resumed Work This Morning—New Schedule of Wages
The granite cutters, about 20 in number, who struck for an increase in wages and other things a week ago, returned to work today after having reached a settlement with their employers. The men are now getting 11 cents per hour for their labor, and the new schedule of wages agreed upon is as follows:
Beginning May 1, 1914, 43 cents an hour, for a year. Beginning May 1, 1915, 45 cents an hour, for one year, and beginning May 1, 1916, 50 cents an hour, to continue for a number of years.
On the point of working outside, the employees, it is understood, agreed to the conditions imposed by the employers.

INVESTIGATING FIRE
Chief Fire Marshal Rice Gave a Hearing in Dracut Yesterday on the Roll-away Fire
Chief Fire Marshal Rice and State Officer Flynn were in Dracut yesterday afternoon to investigate the cause of the recent fire which destroyed the Lakeview Rollaway building near the entrance of Willow Dale.
The two men held a hearing in the town hall and among the witnesses heard were Frank Gunther, Dracut chief fire warden; Arthur Nolin, owner of the building; George Niles, who occupied the place at the time of the fire; Amasa Pratt, who held a mortgage on the property; Roderick Chis-olm and Fred Henderson. The hearing was private.

Today's Beauty Recipes
By Mme. D'Mille
"A simple and reliable remedy for skin eruptions, chaps, cold sores, pimples and eczema is Mother's Salve. It is healing, cooling, soothing and antiseptic. It should be in every family medicine cabinet."
"Just worrying about hair falling out won't help any woman. A few minutes' work is better than hours of worry. Faded and brittle hair, falling hair and baldness are caused by a parasite that destroys the life of the hair. Mother's Shampoo removes these parasites, leaves the scalp healthy and clean and makes the hair fine and fluffy. Enough for several months can be bought for only one dollar. 25c." "Spotted, yellow and muddy looking complexion, together with skin eruptions often present in the spring, require a cleansing treatment instead of face powder. An ideal skin beautifier is easily made at home by dissolving an original package of maxitane in a half pint of which lard. It makes the skin soft, fair and lovely."
"Plain pyroxin applied with the finger tips will cause thin and straggly eyebrows to grow long, even, regular and darker in color. Pyroxin applied to the roots will make the lashes grow long, dark and silky."
To remove superfluous hair on face or forearms make a paste with a little water and powdered delatone, cover the hairs for two minutes, then remove and wash the skin. Delatone does not discolor the skin and is safe and sure.

TOSSES BABY TO PASSERBY

"My Baby's Dying—Do Something for God's Sake"
Woman Rushes to Street Crying for Help—Child Poisoned

BOSTON, May 8.—Rushing screaming down Ziegler street, Roxbury, early last evening, Mrs. Winifred Hanrahan, wife of C. R. Hanrahan, threw her two-year-old baby into the arms of Peter Connelly, who was passing, and gasped "My baby's dying—do something, for God's sake."

Then she dropped to her knees on the sidewalk, overcome by fear and hysteria.

Connelly held the baby in his arms and ran down the street, reaching Jerrold's drug store at Dearborn and Ziegler streets, which he entered and demanded an emetic.

First Aid Remedies
A clerk hurriedly prepared mustard water and other "first aid" remedies which Connelly administered to the infant.

Then he carried the baby to three different doctors' offices in the neighborhood of the Dudley street Elevated terminal, but the doctors were out. While crossing the street, Connelly stumbled and fell. He sustained an ugly wound on his knee, and his hat rolled into the gutter.

The man sped on, visiting other buildings in the neighborhood where he believed he might secure medical aid to the child, who by this time was in convulsions.

Auto Drivers Headless
Unable to find a doctor, Connelly tried to stop three passing automobiles, deciding to rush the baby to the city hospital, but none of the automobile drivers would heed his appeal—all went on without pausing, although the sight of the bare-headed man bearing the baby was sufficiently dramatic and unusual to attract scores of people.

Finally, Connelly became desperate, and planted himself in the path of a small automobile runabout coming down Dudley street, headed north. This machine, driven by a Dorchester physician, stopped, and took the man and apparently dying baby on board, and sped laws were disregarded in a rush for the hospital.

At the hospital, Connelly turned his charge over to the physicians and prompt action with the stomach pump by Dr. Sullivan saved the child's life.

In the meantime, kindly women neighbors of Mrs. Hanrahan had escorted her back to her home, which is at 12 Windsor street. She is the wife of C. R. Hanrahan, a clerk.

Mrs. Hanrahan told a reporter last night that while she was painting her husband's shoulder with tincture of iodine late yesterday afternoon, the baby, Joseph, who is 2 years old, reached from his crib, beside the bed of his parents, and seized the bottle.

Svenlows Incline Tincture
The child's parents, intent on attending to injuries which the father recently sustained, did not notice until too late that the child had swallowed a considerable quantity of the poison—about one ounce, perhaps. Convulsions immediately set in, and the mother, who is only 23, grabbed in the babe and ran into the street, her only thought to get aid.

Between the acts Mrs. Francis Carter of Boston sang several solos. Refreshments were served and dancing followed the presentation of the comedy.

ALWAYS FEWER HOME RUNS THAN BASE HITS

Small profits on many sales, rather than large profits on a few sales, has always been our policy. That's the reason this store scores so many sales and makes this store grow and grow. That's the reason the people have followed us to a side street, and doubled our business, when a great many thought we would lose our business. We knew the people. We knew what they wanted of us. As if they had told us: Give us a bigger stock to select from; we know your prices are lower than elsewhere, and we'll buy of you. And they keep coming in throngs. When others are complaining about business being dull, we have more than we can do. Being sure of a big business, we buy in large quantities, and can buy cheaper and sell cheaper. We have the pole. We have the lead. They can't catch up. The people are with us.

The disgraceful scene which the Red Sox champions and the Cleveland team made yesterday after their game in Cleveland should be repudiated by the league officials. A free-for-all fight is not a fitting manner in which to boost the game to the highest plane accessible by baseball. The fight occurred in the dressing rooms although throughout the contest there were hard feelings between the two clubs and several barefaced attempts were made to injure each other, especially when Joe Jackson slid into the plate with both spikes in the air when Carrigan had him out a mile. Olson had several teeth knocked out and three other players were mugged up in the melee that ensued after the game.

The Lowell team, accompanied by quite a delegation of local fans left this morning on a trip to Portland where a three-game series will be played with Hugh Duffy's outfit. Portland closed their business center at noon today and everybody flocked out to the ball park to see the game. Practically the same list of visitors were present who came here to see our opening. Manager Duffy was presented with a gold watch and chain by the mayor of Portland just before play was begun. The present is an exact duplicate of the one given Manager Gray at the Lowell opening.

The high school boys showed to much greater advantage yesterday than they have in their previous games. Cawley at shortstop, Bailey in center field and Carter at first base are three players who are natural ball players. Cawley in particular has a great baseball head and could be developed into a wonder-schoolboy diamond star. All three are track men and show it by their speed in the field and on the bases.

The game between the Burkes and the Progressive club of Beverly, which will be played at Spaulding park on May 17, should prove quite a drawing card to the followers of amateur baseball. The Beverly club is the first ball club that was ever picked from a political organization at least we never heard of one before in these parts. They have got a strong team but the politicians will have to show more than an ability to get votes to take the long end of the score away with them, as the Burkes are represented by an exceptionally fast nine this year. The sporting editor of The Sun will essay the task of handing out the decisions.

The preliminary preparations for the big track and field games, which are held on the South common each May each under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. are already underway, and Physical Supervisor Wike expects to pull off the most successful meet that has been held since the initiation of the scheme. It is expected that a hurdle race will be added to the list of events this year as a timber-topping event always adds tone to a set of track games. Many of the local track men have already gone into training, and the largest list of entries on record will undoubtedly flock into the dressing tents when the day of the games arrives.

Red Sox and Naps in a Free-for-All Fight

CLEVELAND, May 8.—Bad blood between the two teams, clearly evident throughout the game between the Boston Red Sox and the Cleveland Naps here yesterday, culminated in a free-for-all fight between the rivals directly after the game yesterday afternoon.

As a result infielder Olson of Cleveland is minus several front teeth, the force which dislodged his molars is said to have been the power behind the husky fist of Leslie Nunamaker, the Red Sox catcher.

FRANK "PODGE" MURPHY TO SWIM

Has Been Matched to Swim Miss Rose Pitonof

Local Swimmer Plans Active Campaign for Summer

Frank "Podge" Murphy of this city has been matched to swim Miss Rose Pitonof of a three-mile match for a large side bet. There is no getting away from the fact that "Podge" is some swimmer and it has been said of him that he is absolutely tireless in the water.

Podge used to be a knight of the mite and shook hands with many a fellow within the roped arena when he didn't mean it. He has wearied of the fight game, however, and his hobby now is swimming.

The coming summer promises to be a busy one for aspirants for long distance swimming honors and "Podge" Murphy is one of the most promising candidates in these parts. He has made an excellent record in distance swimming during the past three years, and he avers he will smash all records this summer. One of his first big races was last summer with Henry Sullivan, who left Boston yesterday morning for England, with the purpose in view to swim the English channel.

The race between Murphy and Sullivan was a 12-mile contest on the Merrimack river and Murphy had little difficulty in winning in 4 hours and 7 minutes.

Murphy plans a strenuous campaign for the coming summer. His first workout will be when he accompanies Rose Pitonof on her round trip swim over the Boston Light course, some time in June. After this event he will swim Miss Pitonof a three-mile race at Lakeview for a large side bet.

This race should attract considerable interest, as it will be one of the first between the two sexes that has ever been held in this part of the country. Miss Pitonof is, now training for her Boston Light swim.

For a time it was expected that an expert in the municipal improvements and progress would come to Lowell making this month to address the last meeting of the board, but this has been practically abandoned owing to the difficulty of arranging a meeting.

The board's annual meeting will be held next month.

If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun "Want" column.

FOUR GOOD BOUTS

SCHEDULED FOR MEETING OF THE ACME A. C.

Local Club Will Reopen Tomorrow Night—O'Rourke and Smith in Main Bout

For tomorrow night's opening meet of the Acme A. C. a program of four bouts has been arranged. In the main event Terry O'Rourke of Lawrence and Jack Smith of Manchester are slated to box 12 rounds. The pair met here recently and put up a good exhibition.

In the semi-final of eight rounds Young Josephs of Lowell will meet Kid Sullivan of Lawrence. The former will make his first local appearance this season. Last year he boxed here several times and always made good.

He has appeared in several exhibitions out of town during the present season and has met with much success. In the first preliminary Young Haighy and Young Duffey will appear and in the other six-round affair Young Brennan and Kid Hamilton will exchange greetings.

HALSTEIN AGAIN SHINES

Lowell Won 11 Inning Game From Fall River

Lowell won a hard fought eleven inning game from Fall River yesterday in a contest which was marked by loose fielding. Both teams were guilty of four misplays.

Roy Smith, "Dug" Smith and Zeiser all took a hand in Lowell's slab-work and 11 hits were made of their offerings. Lowell got but nine hits from Johnson and Cooney, who went from second base to the mound in the third inning.

Halstein was again the shining light with the stick getting two singles and a triple, the latter hit being the deciding factor of the game. Fishburne's smash to right field, allowed the winning run to cross the plate. Zeiser retired Fall River in her half of the eleventh inning although McGovern, last year's Auburn halved Lynn manager, drew a free ticket and stole second before the third out was made. Umpire White's decisions were again off color. The score:

FIRST GAME AT PORTLAND

New England Baseball Season Opens There

PORTLAND, Me., May 8.—Fair weather today favored the first game of league baseball in this city since 1901 when the Portland team won the championship of the New England league and retired from the game.

Once more admitted to membership in the same league the Portland team today played its first home game, having as its opponent the Lowell club. Since Portland joined the league organization an association of citizens has built and equipped at a cost of $12,000 one of the finest baseball parks in the circuit and this was dedicated today. The manager and owner of the Portland club is Hugh Duffy of Boston and a party of his friends from Massachusetts came with a band to assist in the opening.

LOWELL HIGH WON FROM NASHUA

Sturtevant Pitched a Great Game—Had Ten Strikeouts

In a game replete with loose fielding and free base running, Lowell high beat Nashua high at Spaulding park yesterday afternoon. The visitors did not display enough baseball knowledge at any stage of the game to beat the local boys.

Sturtevant was in the points for Lowell and let the Nashua boys down with five safe hits. Several of these could have been headed off by fast fielding, but the local team seemed to be certain of victory without any unnecessary exertion and did not play themselves out. Bailey and Cawley each connected with the ball for two safes, one of Cawley's being good for the circuit. Carter also proved a "clean-up kid" and pushed one into center field for four bases.

The Nashua team threatened several times to come from behind, but each time that a man reached first base Sturtevant lightened and held the opposing batters at his mercy. He had 10 strikeouts and played a perfect fielding game, getting four assists during the game. The score:

THE SMOKE NUISANCE

Salt Lake City Man States
Important Facts

The detrimental effect of excessive smoke on the health of citizens and the loss of efficiency in heating boilers accompanying the smoke nuisance in cities were outlined in a recent article in one of the daily newspapers of Salt Lake City by Jesse Coogan of the C. E. Coogan Engineering Co. of that city as follows:

During the past three years I have made an especial study of fuels and combustions, as they are a most important adjunct of my profession and business as a heating engineer, designer and contractor for large heating and power plant equipment. Although I have had 24 years' practical and technical experience, it was only 3 years ago that I entered seriously into the question at issue, viz., fuels and combustion.

Education and "scientific firing" will not cure the smoke nuisance in Salt Lake City, since it is impossible to legislate brains, intelligence, and energy into the man behind the closed throttle. It is 95 per cent. of the heating and power boilers of this city if the equipment be handled by a kind and careful arrangement by which he can secure smokeless results and at the same time produce the work intended.

Gains to Owners
Any legislation that will cause an abatement of the smoke nuisance will cause owners a gain and a profit inasmuch as smoke issuing from a chimney represents just so much waste, as smoke is nothing more than minute particles of pure carbon, carried off from the fire in gases that are incessantly heated to burn.

The quantity of heat given to a boiler is determined by the final state of the gas escaping to the chimney. If nearly perfect combustion has taken place in the furnace of a boiler we are able to obtain an efficiency of as high as 75 per cent., which is meant that 75 per cent. of the actual heat in the fuel is transmitted into work, as represented by the heat generated by the boiler for heating or power purposes. The other 25 per cent. is a loss that cannot be avoided, as it represents heat resulting from radiation due to boiler construction and gases escaping into the stack, which are necessary to cause draft, etc.

Whenever dense smoke issues from a stack we can safely say it represents 75 per cent. of the actual heat in the fuel that causes this smoke and the gases carried with it; therefore, Mr. Owner is losing just 50 per cent. or one-half of what he could save, if his furnace were of a type that turns this smoke and escaping gases into useful work by burning them at a high temperature and converting them into useful work. Therefore any legislation compelling the use of furnaces that will not cause smoke will result in a direct economy and consequent saving in fuel to owner.

It is therefore for this reason that in cities that have compelled absolute obedience of smoke laws and ordinances, owners have learned the great economy of using smokeless types of furnaces and are satisfied with them after it has been driven into their heads by practical experience, that instead of being a hardship the compliance with anti-smoke laws is a benefit inasmuch as it invariably results in a saving of fuel as well as a much higher efficiency from boilers.

Causes of Smoke Nuisance
Most owners consider the cost of heating and power as a necessary evil and take for granted that they must burn up a certain amount of coal per season anyway, therefore, what is the use of going to the expense of changing furnaces. That is the neighbor and the public at large is inconvenienced or injured in health by the smoke and it does not appeal to him until such times as laws are made and enforced that will make it much cheaper for him to obey these laws than not to obey them.

Detriment to Health
Before suggesting effective legislative remedies to stop this smoke nuisance, I wish to say that any statement or idea that the smoke nuisance is not

"really unhealthy" is most erroneous and vicious.
A good majority of grown persons are more or less afflicted with some form of catarrhal trouble, and I notice from personal experience that mine is aggravated very much during my stay in Salt Lake. Everybody subjected to this smoke nuisance must frequently notice the dark and black color of throat secretions in the winter time. This is nothing more or less than the minute particles of carbon emitted from stacks, which have been inhaled in the home or office, or on the street, together with the more deadly and invisible carbonic gas that passes from these stacks as a result of imperfect combustion of fuel in the furnaces of boilers.

A time-worn excuse for not installing smokeless boilers is the claim that there are no satisfactory ones on the market. This is a poor and false excuse, as there are several on the market at the present time, and the price is most reasonable when the benefits are considered.

FIST DUEL OVER GIRL

Half Hour Fight on the Boston Common

BOSTON, May 8.—The greensward of the common, a short distance from the corner of Beacon and Spruce streets, served as a fist arena for two well matched young men, who fought for fully half an hour over a woman about 6 o'clock last evening. An audience, among whom were Back Bay residents and professional men, gazed upon the spectacle.

The principles, evidently employed by business houses, had made all preparations to have the fist encounter on the common and with certain rules drawn up. The fighters, even had seconds who spurred on their respective men.

A number of women were in the crowd and at times turned their heads to the face of one of the men. With their seconds, etc., the party arrived at the common shortly after 6 o'clock. The woman who was the prize was not present, but it was evident that her affections was the bone of contention, and that the matter could only be adjusted by a fight.

One of the principals was well built and muscular, while his adversary was

Her a Well Woman.

John, Kansas.—"During the Change of Life I was sick for two years. Before I took your medicine I could not bear the weight of my clothes and was bloated very badly. I doctored with three doctors but they did me no good. They said nature must have its way. My sister advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I purchased a bottle. Before it was gone the bloating left me and I was not so sore. I continued taking it until I had taken twelve bottles. Now I am stronger than I have been for years and can do all my work, even the washing. Your medicine is worth its weight in gold. I cannot praise it enough. If more women would take your medicine there would be more healthy women. You may use this letter for the good of others."—Mrs. D. H. Brown, 809 N. Walnut St., John, Kan.

Change of Life is one of the most critical periods of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

All our testimonials are guaranteed genuine and truthful. The original of each came to us entirely unsolicited. They are sincere expressions of gratitude for actual benefits received from the medicine.

not so tall but wiry and alert. The latter took considerable punishment, as blow after blow was rained upon him by the more stalwart of the two. He did not yield, however, but by dexterity managed to ward off most of the stiff blows.

The combat was finally ended by the smaller of the two being unable to stand up under further punishment, and when his second threw up the sponge the young man was practically exhausted.

He had to be assisted to a waiting taxi at the rear gate of the common in Charles street, and then was escorted away. His clothes were disarranged and he was bleeding profusely.

FOSS SAYS HE LOST $8000
Governor Sues Rankin, Alleging He Made False Representations to Induce Him to Invest

BOSTON, May 8.—Gov. Eugene N. Foss brought suit in the superior court against Henry B. Rankin for $10,000, alleging he falsely represented he owned certain property in order to induce the plaintiff to agree to build houses to sell in Dorchester and to put up $25,000 for it as a permanent fund.

The governor says the defendant said he owned a quarter interest in certain land in Dorchester. He says he lost $8000 in the enterprise.

TWO HOMES THREATENED
Active Work Checks Forest Fires Started by Locomotives at Harwich and South Harwich

SOUTH HARWICH, May 8.—A stubborn forest fire was set on the south side of the railroad track by the locomotive of a special train on the Chatham branch about noon yesterday. It was discovered by Henry M. Small, who notified Fire Warden John Condon. Back being stopped by the pressure of flames just in time to save the Then Weeks homestead, from which household effects had been hastily removed, and when the fire was rapidly approaching the South Harwich church. At this time another fire started about a mile east of Harwich Center village apparently set by the locomotive bringing the train men to the first blaze. Before the fire-fighters could be transported to that place the flames had reached such close proximity to the residences of Reuben Walker and Moses Hendon that they were moving out their household goods when help arrived. Nearly 20 acres were destroyed.

WOMAN SEES WARDNER
Seeks $10,000 for Injuries by Collision in Washington Street—Entered Auto at His Invitation

BOSTON, May 8.—Alice G. Coady of Boston filed a suit for $10,000 for personal injuries against Herbert L. Wardner of Boston in superior court yesterday, as a result of the collision of his automobile with a street car on Washington street, near Summer, on March 6, which demolished his machine.

The plaintiff states that she entered the machine at the defendant's invitation for a ride to her home, and that he, being in no condition to handle the automobile, negligently drove it at high speed so that it struck an electric car. She alleges she was violently thrown against the street car and the side of the automobile and badly injured.

DELAYS VOTE ON TARIFF

Minority Leader Holds
Up Passage

WASHINGTON, May 8.—After all of the fireworks preparatory to the passage of the Underwood bill in the house had been set off last night, a republican parliamentary maneuver blocked progress by the democratic majority, and the house was forced to adjourn until today with the bill still pending.

Bill Not Enrolled
When the valedictory speeches on the bill had been delivered and the crowded floor and galleries were prepared for the final action, Republican Leader Mann replied to Majority Leader Underwood's opposition to a roll call on the republican amendment proposing a tariff commission by declaring he would demand the reading of the "enrolled bill." It was impossible for the enrolling clerk to complete the enrollment of the bill before this afternoon and amid the dissatisfied mutterings of the members who had waited through the evening in the expectation of a final vote, Representative Underwood moved that the house adjourn until 2 o'clock this afternoon when the vote on the bill will be taken.

Income Tax Amended
In the closing hours of the session the ways and means committee amended the income tax section of the bill so as to exempt from its provisions the citizens of Porto Rico and the Philippines.

Amid a chorus of cheers and thunderous applause from the floor and galleries, the leaders on both sides closed the debate on the bill. Representative Mann told the democrats that they must accept a tariff commission now, "or we will jam it down your throats in the next congress."

"Your bill has now been before the country for two months," he said, "and already has been universally condemned. Business is more or less stagnated in the fear that your rates will injure industry. I hope that fear will disappear."

Prosperity Involved
"But you are trying to continue prosperity by threatening prosperity, and if you succeed you will have accomplished the impossible. We turn over to you a prosperous country where the people are happy, where there is work for all to do."

As the republicans applauded Representative Payne of New York arose. "I have heard mighty little criticism of the present law," he said. "There has been some denunciation, not much from the gentlemen who appear on the floor for the first time and most of them for the last time. All of them say they don't like some of the provisions of this bill."

Will Not Wed Senator
Miss Daly Breaks Off Engagement

BOSTON, May 8.—It was Alice Lorraine Daly who broke her engagement with United States Senator James H. Brady of Idaho, and not the statesman. This was part of the state-wide movement made by the young lady herself when she received a reporter at her home yesterday.

Miss Daly is studying at the Emerson College of Oratory in Boston, being a post-graduate, as she received her degree three summers ago.

Was School Teacher
The romance so suddenly terminated had its beginning several years back in Pocatello, Idaho, where Miss Daly was teaching school. Pocatello is the home of Senator Brady, who was at that time governor of his state. The couple met and became friendly on his occasional trips to his home from the capital.

The following year Miss Daly spent in Boston continuing her study of elocution. Next year she was at her home in Gray Cloud island, near St. Paul, in which city Governor Brady spent much of his time making arrangements for the western governors' special train which toured the east in 1911, and of which he was the manager. The engagement was announced in December of that year.

Received Presents
Until recently Miss Daly has been known to have been receiving many handsome presents and flowers from her fiance, and the news of the annulment of the engagement has caused a stir among the friends of both parties.

"It is true that my engagement to Senator Brady has been broken," said Miss Daly, "but there is not the slightest ill feeling between us. I recognized the fact that we should abandon the idea of marriage, but I still have the highest respect for the senator. He is a man of high ideals and fine conscience."

"I just could not feel that I cared enough for him to marry him."

MITCHELL SUCCEEDS LOEB
New York Man Gets Collectorship

WASHINGTON, May 8.—John Purroy Mitchell, independent democrat and president of the board of aldermen of New York city, was nominated yesterday by President Wilson to be collector of the port of New York to succeed William Loeb, Jr.

This selection brought what the White House termed "a happy solution" to a contest in which New York state leaders of every wing of the party had taken a lively part for the last two months.

One of the reasons why Mr. Mitchell at first was said to be disinclined to have his candidacy advanced was on account of the approaching mayoralty contest next fall.

Some of his friends declared last night that Mr. Mitchell had by no means eliminated himself and that the administration would not object if he resigned eventually to become a candidate for mayor of New York.

The president urged Mr. Mitchell by telegram, however, to accept the collectorship, and he did so.

"We ought to have nine months of free schooling for every child in the rural districts," says Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States Commissioner of education. In a letter to the superintendents of public instruction in the various states Dr. Claxton calls attention to the present short rural term and makes an earnest plea for a campaign by the state officers to bring the country school term for country schools up to that for city schools. Many of the state superintendents have already pledged their assistance in a nationwide movement to bring this about.

Dr. Claxton points out how far we are in this country from approximating at present even the lowest minimum he names—a school term of 160 days. The average length of the rural-school term is only 123 days, or a little less than seven months, while for the cities it is 181 days, or more than nine months. Only two states, Connecticut and Rhode Island, have school terms exceeding nine months in rural districts. Eleven others have country-school terms of between eight and nine months. They are: California, Iowa, Michigan, Maryland, Kansas, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, South Dakota, Washington and Wisconsin.

Many states are considerably below the seven months' average. In a number of them the country schools keep open for only six months; Florida and Arkansas keep their schools "in rural districts open for five months; while North Carolina, South Carolina, and New Mexico have apparently been providing their country children with barely four months and a half of schooling every year.

Nearly all the city schools, the commissioner shows, already have nine months' terms, 150 days or more, with well-trained teachers, and there is no reason, he declares, why the country children should not have as many days of schooling and as good teachers as city children. Dr. Claxton asks a minimum school term for the rural districts of eight or nine months (eight temporarily), a minimum qualification for rural teachers of four years of high school and not less than two years of college or normal school education, and good libraries for all rural schools. "With these," he says, "should go an effort to adjust the work of the rural schools more closely to the needs of country life."

A number of the states with short rural terms are making splendid efforts to bring the country schools up to the standard of their city schools, in length of term and other essentials. Dr. Claxton believes that all the states will be aided by a concerted movement for better rural schools throughout the nation.

OLD LADIES' HOME
Annual May Party Held Yesterday Afternoon—Pleasant Event Largely Attended

Yesterday afternoon and evening the annual May party was held at the Old Ladies' Home in Fletcher street and, as usual, was eminently successful. The attendance was large and much interest was shown in the event.

A number of tables were located on the main floor of the building on which articles of various descriptions were sold, including candy, cakes, etc., and these were very largely patronized. Supper and ice cream and cake were served in the dining room.

One of the tables which attracted more attention than the others was that on which were displayed articles made by the occupants of the home for whom the party was held. This table was managed by Mrs. H. A. Lambert. The flower table was managed by Mrs. Charles E. Howe. Mrs. Fred Woodley had charge of the pound table, on which articles of general usefulness were displayed, and Miss Helen E. Bowers was chairman of the candy table.

After the dining room was under the direction of Mrs. C. W. Wilder, and in this room were the cake table, headed by Mrs. Andrew G. Swapp; the strawberry table, with Mrs. Thomas Ramsey in charge; the rolls and butter department, supervised by Mrs. George Bowers; the salad table with Mrs. Charles L. Stover as chairman; the patisserie table, with Mrs. Joseph F. Talbot, and the ice cream served by Mr. and Mrs. A. F. French with Miss Grace Wood as chairman of the table.

During the evening a pleasing entertainment was rendered, consisting of duets by Mrs. Peph and Warren T. Reed; violin solos by Miss Helen E. Bowers; and a monologue by W. H. Reed. A solo by C. Russell presided over the entertainment and delivered a brief address at its closing.

STRIKING PUPILS STONE SCHOOLS

Riots In South Boston, Roxbury and Cambridge

Reserves Called—Two Arrested—Windows Smashed

BOSTON, May 8.—School riots in South Boston, Roxbury and Cambridge last night called out police reserves, and more than 1000 school children and sympathizers imbued with strike tendencies, smashed windows and committed other depredations, while several arrests were made.

The most serious of the outbreaks occurred in South Boston, where the Bigelow grammar, John A. Andrew, Norcross, Lawrence and Clinch schools were bombarded with rocks and other missiles.

The school children of the Bigelow school struck for shorter hours yesterday afternoon. Quickly the strike spread into the other schools of the district and later across the line into Roxbury.

Headmaster Gardner Bassett of the Bigelow school in a statement declared that the trouble emanated from the older boys, who want a shorter session because the warm weather has inducements for outdoor recreation.

The trouble all over the sections reported began early last evening when crowds of boys, in some cases numbering as high as 1000, started in parading the streets, and before the reserves could be called into action reports of depredations had reached the various station houses.

In South Boston, while a squad of policemen was dispatched to look after the boys gathered at the Bigelow school, a larger crowd slipped around and stored the Broadway police station.

In Cambridge a crowd of young men, not school pupils who went on strike, stoned the Thorndike, Putnam and Gore schools.

Root at Policemen

Then, to cap the climax, the boys, cheering and shouting, marched to police station 5, on Broadway, when two of their number had been arrested, and hoisted at the officers and continued throwing stones.

In Roxbury the Sherwin, Dudley and the Lewis schools were swept down upon by scores of boys, and windows were smashed, electric lights shattered and other property destroyed.

The situation in South Boston was the most serious, and during the height of the riot every police reserve in the district was hurried to break up the parade.

The boys, ranging in ages from 8 to 15, carried signs which read, "We want our rights; we will fight to the death," and others.

STRONG SERMON ON TEMPERANCE

Preached at the Men's Mission at St. Michael's Church Last Evening

The Dominican Fathers who are in charge of the annual mission which is being conducted at St. Michael's church, as well as the clergymen of the parish, are much pleased with the success of the retreat. This week the services are being held for men, both married and unmarried, and the attending clergymen will have to arrange for double services if the attendance keeps up or increases.

The congregation last night taxed the capacity of the temple, and at the close of the service large numbers went to confession. The sermon was on a very important subject, the preacher taking for his text "Intemperance." The speaker was Rev. Fr. Higgins, O. P., and his remarks were very interesting as well as instructive.

The reverend gentleman outlined the evils of intemperance, starting with the young man who soon after he starts work, meets friends who lead him in time to the saloons. He explained how the first glass is always taken just to be sociable, or in other words to please friends, and then told of how many young men after their first glass get into the habit of drinking, a bad habit which is very hard to overcome.

The preacher related instances concerning drunkards, which brought tears to the eyes of many, and he urged all those who are in the habit of drinking, to give it up for the sake of God, their families and themselves. Those who can boast of not knowing the taste of liquor he urged to pray God that their ignorance of the evil may last forever. In the course of his remarks the preacher also explained how the use of intoxicating liquor was injurious to the health, as well as to the spirit.

ual and temporal welfare of man in every sense of the word. He closed by saying he hoped there were very few of his listeners who were addicted to the use of intoxicating beverage, and also hoped sincerely that those unfortunate ones would be persuaded by this mission to take the pledge and become exemplary Christians. The sermon exposed the evils of intemperance in a most forcible manner.

At the close of the sermon benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was given by Rev. John J. Shaw, pastor.

At the five o'clock mass this morning Rev. Fr. Healey, O. P., officiated and also delivered a short instruction. Over 700 men received holy communion at the 5 o'clock mass, while at the 8 o'clock mass there was also a large number.

THRILLING FEAT IN RUNAWAY

Hack Driver Showed Wonderful Agility—Jumped on Pole Between Galloping Horses

One of the most spectacular run-aways that ever took place in this city occurred this morning in Market street, when two heavy, high spirited black horses, owned by Undertaker Joseph Albert, and hitched to a new hack, broke loose at the corner of Dutton and Market streets, after being frightened by the dummy engine of the Boston & Maine railroad. Many people who witnessed the wild race of the horses claim it is almost miraculous that no damage was caused, or no lives lost, for when the driver attempted to bring his horses to a stop, one of the reins snapped. The driver did not lose his head, but quickly jumped on the back pole between the horses and with the aid of the check reins guided the mad animals between vehicles of all sorts, at the risk of his own life. He finally succeeded in stopping the runaways,
but not before several narrow escapes had been effected. The feat rivaled anything seen in a circus and for surpassed the Roman chariot races seen in circuses, where in every instance the driver is experienced and well trained to such a feat.

The horses were in charge of Mr. Albert's manager, Joseph Theriault, of 12 Dodge street, and were standing at the corner of Market and Dutton streets shortly before eight o'clock, awaiting the time to start for a funeral under the direction of Undertaker P. H. Savage. The dummy engine of the Boston & Maine at the time was shifting cars near the Y. M. C. A. building, and the racket from the exhaust of the engine scared one of the horses. Mr.
Theriault, who was seated on the driver's seat, endeavored to quiet his horse, but his efforts were fruitless. Finally the horse started to break neck, and the other horse followed. The horses were going as fast as they could gallop, while the driver was doing his very best to check their speed.
When the horses reached a point near the corner of Worthen street, one of the reins snapped, and several of the other hackmen shouted to the driver to jump for his life, for they were of the opinion he would never escape alive. Without losing his head Mr.
Theriault took a leap and landed on the back pole between the two mad

APPEAL GOMPER'S CASE

Attorneys for the Labor
Men Asked Stay

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Attorneys for Samuel Gomper, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison asked the district court of appeals today to stay its mandate sentencing Gomper to 30 days in jail and fine. Mitchell and Morrison $500 each in afflicting complaint charges defendant has converted to its own use. The ad damnum clause is $3000.

This morning several witnesses were placed on the stand by Mr. J. J. Hogan, counsel for the plaintiff, and among them were witnesses for the defense.
Prominent among those to take the stand was Mr. Joyce, the plaintiff in the case, and his testimony was practically a repetition of some of the charges in the plaintiff's declaration.
In the case charged from the witness stand
for a time, and a Mr. Hall, the occupant of the property in question, was called. Mr. Hall testified in part to some of the conversations which occurred regarding the said fixtures,
their ownership and removal.

When Mr. Joyce was again requested to take the stand, he was asked by Mr.
Hogan what part of the fixtures the defendant claimed. Replying, the witness testified that the defendant claimed everything. He related a conversation
in which he asked the defendant what was his claim and testified that his response was that he claimed all. He related, moreover, that he enumerated
some of the articles in question and
that each time the reply was that the defendant claimed everything, including desk, cash register and numerous other accessories. He said that he wanted to remove them and that his opponent would not allow him to do so.

He was then asked if he had consulted his lawyer regarding the matter,
and replied that he had done so, and that
the attorney made out a demand for
the delivery of the fixtures.
"Did you receive any of them after this demand?" inquired Mr. Hogan, and he went on to have read a list of the articles in question, and with the exception of a few, including twenty
liquor faucets and some barrel staves,
witness testified that he had not received them.

Mr. John Drury was called to the stand next and he testified that he is in the plumbing business and has been
for about 40 years, having been with Costello for 24 years and in business
for himself for about 17 years, being located in Jackson street. In response to the questioning of Mr. Hogan, Mr.
Drury testified that he has engaged in the buying and selling of drainers and that he has worked on and set up such drainage systems as the one in the property in question.

"Do you feel that you are competent
to give an opinion as to the value of the drainers?" inquired Mr. Hogan.
"I do," replied witness. "They look
to be in very good form."
He went on to state that in his opinion they could be removed without injury to the building. Regarding the value of the apparatus, taking into consideration the time it has been in use, Mr. Drury said that he believed that about one-half their original cost
would be a fair price for them at present, to be removed from the building
and used elsewhere. In actual figures,
he estimated the 12-foot drainer at about $25, and the 10-foot drainer at about $55, a total of $160, one-half of which would be $80.

Witness was then questioned regarding the value of other piping, etc., connected with the bars and could not

BODY HANGING FROM BEAM

Geo. A. Lindsay Committed Suicide in Camp at Baptist Pond—
Wife Makes Discovery

George A. Lindsay, of 127 Market street, this city, committed suicide either Tuesday night or yesterday morning by hanging in a camp at Baptist pond. The gruesome find was made by the wife of deceased, who called at the camp yesterday. The body was removed to the funeral parlors
of Undertakers Young & Blake, where it was viewed by Medical Examiner Joe V. Meigs, who later signed the certificate "Suicide by hanging."
What led Lindsay to commit this act is not known, but it is believed it was despondency over illness, for deceased had been in poor health for some time. In order to recuperate

he was making his home at a camp owned by Ellis Burbeck at Baptist pond, Chelmsford.
Yesterday morning his wife called to see how he was getting along, but when she tried to open the door she receiving no reply, looked into one of the windows and was horrified to see the body of her husband hanging to a beam. She quickly notified the nearest neighbor, who broke down the door of the camp and cut the thin rope which held Lindsay by the neck, but it was too late for the man had breathed his last. The body was removed to this city.

SUIT FOR $3000 ON TRIAL

Joyce vs. Polish National Home Association

The case of Joyce vs. Polish National Home Association of Lowell was taken up again this morning at the opening of the superior court civil session, and up to the recess the plaintiff's side had not completed its case. The case is an action in which both parties lay claim to certain fixtures in real estate bought by the defendant, which plaintiff charges defendant has converted to its own use. The ad damnum clause is $3000.

This morning several witnesses were placed on the stand by Mr. J. J. Hogan,
counsel for the plaintiff, and among
them were witnesses for the defense.
Prominent among those to take the
stand was Mr. Joyce, the plaintiff in the case, and his testimony was practically a repetition of some of the charges in the plaintiff's declaration.
In the case charged from the witness stand
for a time, and a Mr. Hall, the occupant of the property in question, was called. Mr. Hall testified in part to some of the conversations which occurred regarding the said fixtures,
their ownership and removal.

When Mr. Joyce was again requested to take the stand, he was asked by Mr.
Hogan what part of the fixtures the defendant claimed. Replying, the witness testified that the defendant claimed
everything. He related a conversation
in which he asked the defendant what
was his claim and testified that his response was that he claimed all. He
related, moreover, that he enumerated
some of the articles in question and
that each time the reply was that the defendant claimed everything, including desk, cash register and numerous other accessories. He said that he wanted to remove them and that his opponent would not allow him to do so.

He was then asked if he had consulted his lawyer regarding the matter,
and replied that he had done so, and that
the attorney made out a demand for
the delivery of the fixtures.
"Did you receive any of them after
this demand?" inquired Mr. Hogan, and he went on to have read a list of the articles in question, and with the exception of a few, including twenty
liquor faucets and some barrel staves,
witness testified that he had not received them.

Mr. John Drury was called to the stand next and he testified that he is in
the plumbing business and has been
for about 40 years, having been with Costello for 24 years and in business
for himself for about 17 years, being located in Jackson street. In response to the questioning of Mr. Hogan, Mr.
Drury testified that he has engaged in
the buying and selling of drainers and
that he has worked on and set up such
drainage systems as the one in the
property in question.

"Do you feel that you are competent
to give an opinion as to the value of the drainers?" inquired Mr. Hogan.
"I do," replied witness. "They look
to be in very good form."
He went on to state that in his opinion they could be removed without injury to the building. Regarding the value of the apparatus, taking into consideration the time it has been in use, Mr. Drury said that he believed
that about one-half their original cost
would be a fair price for them at present, to be removed from the building
and used elsewhere. In actual figures,
he estimated the 12-foot drainer at
about $25, and the 10-foot drainer at
about $55, a total of $160, one-half of which would be $80.

Witness was then questioned regarding the value of other piping, etc., connected with the bars and could not give definite estimates, saying that he had not inspected them closely.

The defense opened its case early in the afternoon. Mr. John P. Hall, proprietor of the saloon in which the fixtures in question are located was first timony he stated that he has been tions regarding the condition and disposition of the drainers and other

TO IMPROVE THE SCHOOL

Advisory Board of the Lowell Industrial School

Met Last Night and Committees Were Organized

The following members of the advisory board of the Industrial school met in the school committee room at city hall last night and entered into a general discussion of the school and its work; Agent Thomas, of the Massachusetts mills; Agent Mitchell, of the Massachusetts mills; Secretary John H. Murphy, of the board of trade; Clarence H. Nelson, contractor; John H. Johnson, contractor; Mr. Kimball, mechanic at the Tremont & Suffolk mills; Felix Langevin, foreman at the Kilson Machine shop; Miss M. J. O'Hearn, of the Whitall Mfg. Co.; Mrs. A. E. Odell, and Miss Lee, supervisor of kindergartens. Other members of the advisory board were unable to be present. Committees were organized on different subjects and they will be called together when their advice is needed.

Talked to the Boys
Mr. Lucius A. Derby, by request of Principal Fisher of the Industrial school, visited the school this morning and addressed the boys who are taking up electrical work at the school. There are about 40 boys in the class.

Mr. Derby gave the boys a very interesting talk. He told them what he would expect of a boy who would apply for a position in his office and told of his own experience. He outlined the problems that the electrician is up against, and admonished them to make every minute count while at school. He told them that fixing wires so that they would tickle a bell and make it ring didn't constitute an electrician. He said there are a great many boys who want to be electricians who are not adapted for it. He told of boys he had had in his office who were not fitted for the business and he was obliged to let them go. That does not mean, he said, that they were not fitted for anything else. These boys went out and made good at something else.
They didn't have the opportunity that is afforded you. One of the principles of this school is to find out what the boy is fitted for and place him. If you are not fitted for an electrician he will tell you,
and then it is up to you to try something else.

Mr. Derby installed the first arclight in Lowell, and he gave an insight into the history of the business in Lowell.
He told of the difficulties he had encountered and pointed out how they could be avoided. He told the boys to keep their eyes open, to acquaint themselves thoroughly with mathematics, and to learn to write a good, plain hand. He told them to remain in school as long as possible and to improve every moment.

Mr. Derby told Principal Fisher that he would be glad to come and talk to the boys at any time. Mr. Fisher said today that it is his intention to have men representing the different trades talk to the boys at different times.
Good practical talks that will inspire them and encourage them in their work. Mr. Fisher stated today that everything is going along very well at the school, but that in order to perfect the work it will be necessary to have a new school building. He says a new school is necessary in order that the principal may keep in touch with all of the departments all of the time. As it is at present, he says, he is here, there and everywhere, and he is not accomplishing as much as he would like to accomplish, and this could be accomplished were the conditions more favorable.

WOMAN CLERK OF COURT

Appointed by Supreme Court of D. of C.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Overturning century old tradition, the supreme court of the District of Columbia today appointed a woman to be assistant clerk of the court, empowered with all the duties imposed by law on such an official. The distinction was conferred on Miss Elizabeth Meigs, who for 21 years had done service for the court as copyist and indexer. Miss Meigs is the first woman to hold an official position in that body.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—"One of the adverse factors that are retarding the prevention of the white plague," was the characterization applied to Dr.
Friedrich Friedmann's tuberculosis cure by one of the physicians at the opening address of the meeting of the National Assn. for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. "Nothing like the series of events," said the speaker,
"which followed the announcement of the Friedmann cure in Berlin has hitherto occurred in the tuberculosis campaign. Only those who have been engaged from day to day in industrial state and local authorities to appropriate funds can appreciate how easily difficult this task has been made in the last few months by the extremely effective press agents of Dr. Fried-mann. Thus far it has not been evident to me as a layman that any of those who have had to do with the subject in this country have won much credit. When the Friedmann cure has later its legitimate place and perchance has been forgotten we shall remember those processions coming from every home which the announcement of the 'cure' summoned to our vision."

USUAL CRIST OF CASES

Before Judge Enright in Police Court

MAN WITH TRACHOMA DRANK TO CLEAR VISION

Assault Case in Which Two Young Men Got Heavy Sentences But Appealed

Paul Mansfield was brought to light in time for this morning's session of police court. He was removed from court yesterday morning but did not appear. He was charged with obstructing the sidewalk on Broadway last Sunday afternoon. Officer Castles told the court that this was another member of a gang, one of whom was fined $15 yesterday, that persisted in making trouble in the district and that they refused to move when ordered to do so by the high of the law. The same fine, $15, was imposed upon Mansfield that the other young man received.

The case of Antonio Mingo charged with non-support of wife, was again up before the court this morning. The defense, in charge of Daniel J. Donahue, Esq., maintained that the defendant was in such poor shape, owing to the fact that he is suffering from trachoma, that he cannot support his wife. A letter was produced from Dr. Bertrand which stated that Mingo surely had the affection which he claimed to have and that he, Dr. Bertrand, had been treating him for it. It further stated that the defendant's vision had been damaged 40 per cent by the disease. Mingo took the witness stand wearing a pair of huge blue glasses over his eyes. Fisher Pearson, Esq., however did not think that the defendant had the eye disease that he claimed, for the reason that no immigrants are admitted into this country while suffering from this complaint. Under cross-examination the defendant admitted that he took a drink of beer occasionally. This, Attorney Pearson said, went to prove that Mingo did not have the alleged disease, for alcoholic beverages are an irritant to this particular affliction. Mr. Donahue interrupted and made the remark that it was commonly known that liquor made the imbibers' sight more acute in a great many cases and as his client's eyes were in a bad way perhaps he had taken this method of improving his visionary powers. The court could not find where the defendant had the wherewithal to support his wife and ordered the case continued for a month.

Thomas F. Sheehan's case will be tried tomorrow morning. Peter Johnson, accused of stealing two bicycles, will be given a chance to plead next Saturday. The case of Thomas Dalton, charged with the larceny of a pair of shears and three pairs of stockings, will also be heard on Saturday.

Robert Grady, a third offender for drunkenness, was sent to the state farm. James Roark was given a 15 days' sentence at the jail for the same offense. Joseph Leclair was fined $5 for drunkenness and there was one first offender who received a fine of $2.

The case of William O'Donnell and John Conroy, charged with drunkenness and assault and battery upon John Reynolds was tried.

The complainant, John Reynolds, Frank B. Murphy and Joseph Burns, all appeared as witnesses for the prosecution. From the appearance of evidence it seems that both young men had been drinking rather heavily together. As they were coming down Butler avenue Mr. Reynolds appeared on the opposite side of the street. O'Donnell crossed the street and requested the complainant to loan him a quarter. Reynolds refused. Words led to blows and Reynolds struck the youth, but said the latter struck first. Conroy, who had up to this time watched proceedings from across the street, came over to the scene of action as soon as he saw blood on O'Donnell's face. And when he reached the spot where the trouble had started he proceeded to give Mr. Reynolds a bad beating. Reynolds bore some of the marks of conflict when he stepped up to the witness stand today. Daniel J. Donahue, Esq., made an eloquent appeal for his client, Conroy, and a question of sentence, as both had pleaded guilty, but the court gave them each four months in the house of correction for the assault and three months apiece in the same place for drunkenness. Through their attorneys, Daniel J. Donahue and James J. Kerwin, both appealed.

THE OWNERS AT THE EDSON

Say Foreman Must Be In Sympathy With Them.

Delegates Talked Matters Over With Mr.
Cummings

James Gunn, Warren A. Bishop, Charles A. Stevens, A. A. Welcome and J. A. Bailey, members from the Lot Owners' association of the Edson cemetery, had a conference last night with Commissioner Cummings at city hall. The delegation made it very plain that they did not think there was any need of an assistant to the superintendent of the cemetery.

The principal objection concerned the recent provisional appointment of Michael H. Pinnegan as foreman, assisting the superintendent. It was stated that the lot owners do not want any position of this kind created; that it was believed Mr. Pinnegan had only been held in the place until the superintendent, Mr. Duckworth, had got in touch with affairs there.

In the course of the discussion Mr. Cummings took occasion to remark that all of the people of the city of Lowell have contributed towards paying for the cemetery, and that in the last 25 years the expenditures have been about $65,000 greater than the receipts. Recent administrations of the cemetery, under the former board of trustees as well as under the present form of government, have shown a goodly sum of money on the credit side. Asked for figures for the past five years, Mr. Cummings produced the following:

Mr. Cummings said that the present year would show a very substantial saving. At present about $800 more in receipts has come in than had at the corresponding time a year ago.

Mr. Stevens said he felt that the appointment of the late Robert Gilmore as foreman at a salary of $1100 a year was merely one made to allow the superintendent to profit by the experience of a former superintendent. He said that the lot owners wanted a man, if one were chosen for foreman, who was in sympathy with them.

Mr. Cummings said: "I think that is a natural feeling, the more so when the burial grounds' employees are taken into account. They know that the man who was provisionally appointed as foreman was not experienced and not in sympathy with the lot owners."

Mr. Cummings: "I feel that Mr. Pinnegan would have made a very good man for the cemetery. The school board, when it had a choice to make in selecting a new janitor, found no fault with him. He was the first man on the list and they took him. I have no idea at the present time of appointing anybody, but if I do feel the need of a foreman, I shall ask the Massachusetts civil service commission to call for competitive examinations, and shall ask especially that this call be for men who have some practical experience in gardening."

Mr. Gunn said: "The principal fault I have to complain about is that the superintendent of the cemetery have never had any practical knowledge of gardening. One man was a dry goods clerk. Another one worked in an express office. It looks as if the only requisite for the place was political pull. What experience does our present superintendent of cemeteries possess?"

Mr. Duckworth: "I am not a gardener, but I can get enough information to carry the work along all right."

Mr. Gunn: "We ought to have a man who is a first class gardener there."

Mr. Welcome: "I don't agree entirely. I think that a man should be able to handle help well."

Mr. Gunn: "I have seen active minded men fool superintendents who did not have any practical knowledge of the business, because they knew such superintendents didn't have any practical knowledge."

Mr. Cummings: "Supposing I should suggest that I would like a practical man for foreman, with a knowledge of gardening, would he be all right?"

Mr. Cummings: "If he had the very necessary quality of sympathy with those who own lots there."

Mr. Cummings: "There is hardly a cemetery in the state, in a city of this size, which does not have a foreman, to take the place on occasion of the superintendent. No cemetery was ever independent of the lot owners' association before by the lot owners' association. The man who is superintendent now is an enthusiast in his work."

Mr. Gunn: "I might be an enthusiast on a thing, and still have very little practical knowledge of it."

Mr. Cummings: "The designation of a man as foreman will not mean that any more employees will be put on in the department. That man, of course, would get a little additional pay."

Mr. Gunn: "Isn't Mr. Taylor capable?"

Mr. Cummings: "Well, the civil service commission does not say he can hold the job of foreman."

Mr. Gunn: "Mr. Taylor is a rather shy man. He does not stand up and fight for a thing, but I believe him to be a capable man, just the same."

Mr. Stevens: "Is it your idea to ask the civil service to call for a competitive examination for the place of foreman?"

Mr. Cummings: "I haven't made up my mind."

Mr. Bailey: "Isn't it possible to have things run along as they are now and let Mr. Taylor assist Mr. Duckworth?"

The lot owners have the idea that there is to be an additional man to be put on the payroll, and who will have no work to do."

Mr. Cummings: "Well, no such man will be employed, nor will any man get $1100 a year, as has been suggested."

Mr. Cummings then asked if the civil service commission held an examination for a foreman's position, and if he then selected the man at the head of the list for the place."

Mr. Stevens: "It is wholly a question of sympathy."

Mr. Cummings: "But suppose that man at the head of the list were not in sympathy, as you put it, with the owners of the lots in the cemetery?"

Mr. Stevens: "Well, then there would be the same attitude towards him as there was towards the man who has held the place."

Mr. Cummings: "If one man passed the examination and was high man and was selected for the place, he would be acceptable, and if another man did the same thing and was accepted, he would not be acceptable. Is that it?"

Mr. Welcome: "That was the attitude of the lot owners at their meeting, and we are here simply to voice their views."

The five delegates asked that no more cinders be placed on roads and walks in the cemetery, and that a new hard road be constructed from the main entrance to the chapel.

Adjourned at 8.30 o'clock.

MATRIMONIAL

A very pretty marriage was solemnized last night, when Mr. Alfred Maurice Caswell of Dorchester, and Miss Lillian Amelia Strout, former teacher at the Abraham Lincoln school, were united in the bonds of matrimony; the ceremony being performed at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Strout, 95 South Loring street, the officiating clergyman being Rev. A. F. F. Duggan, pastor of the Highland Congregational church. The double ring service was used. Miss Almira F. Dickard of Concord acted as bridesmaid, while the best man was Mr. Lester M. Corey of Worcester. Raymond C. Lewis acted as ring bearer, and Mrs. Harrison Byam presided at the piano. The ushers were Misses Elsie M. Cragin, Helen A. Dow and Elsie M. Puffer. Mr. Paul Tower and Miss Sarah Caswell of Dorchester, Miss Alice Ingham and Mr. Winthrop Bean served refreshments. Miss Olin Sargent presided at the punch bowl, where fruit punch was served. The catering was by Mr. Charles S. Merrill.

The parlor and hall were tastefully decorated with white blossoms, lilacs and bridal wreaths. The bride was gown in white crepe de chine.

Many beautiful gifts were received, including a set of solid silver knives and forks from the teachers of the Abraham Lincoln school.

On their return from the wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Caswell will be at home to their friends at 95 South Loring street.

For Age-Marred Skins and Dull, Streaky Hair

(From American Press)

Fine lines and that aged condition of the skin are caused by pore-clogging powders and creams. These should be discarded for a spumax lotion which seems a part of skin when on and is easily made at home at little cost by dissolving 4 ounces spumax in 1/2 pint witch hazel (or hot water) then adding 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine. This face-lotion protects the skin against the ravages of sun and wind, removes tan, freckles, oiliness and other upsets and lends an indelible charm to the complexion. An invigorating and pleasing shampoo can easily be made by dissolving a teaspoonful canthrox in a cup of hot water. This creates an abundance of rich, cleansing lather which is a positive benefit to your scalp and hair. After rinsing, your hair will dry quickly and evenly, with a brilliance and silky softness truly charming. Canthrox, which costs little at the drug-gist's, removes dandruff, makes the scalp healthy and promotes an abundant growth.

BURIED IN TRENCH

Two Italians Reached, Little Injured,
by Fellow Laborers, in Clarendon Street Excavation

BOSTON, May 8.—When the wall of a trench on Clarendon street, near St. James avenue, where contractors are laying a gas main for the city, collapsed at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Frank Cicciolo, 43 years old, of 7 Margaret street, and Felio Malzi, 43 years old, of the same address, were buried under the earth and compelled to remain there until other workmen rescued them. Neither of the laborers was severely hurt, being treated at the City hospital for abrasions of the arms and body.

When the accident occurred a fireman, alerted from an outward-bound car on St. James avenue, and smelling gas and thinking there had been an explosion, gave an alarm from box 89. District Chiefs Byron and Sennott and considerable apparatus soon arrived, but their services were not required, even to rescue the men.

BRYAN REPORTS TO PRESIDENT

Secretary of State Returns From California Where He Acted as Wilson's Representative

WASHINGTON, May 8.—With Secretary Bryan's return from California early today where he went as President Wilson's personal representative to confer with Gov. Johnson over the anti-alien land laws which the Japanese government construes as offensive to the diplomatic stage of the negotiations between Japan and the United States over the question actually were reached.

Secretary Bryan's first move on his return today was to confer with President Wilson to make a first hand report of the situation as he found it in California. The Japanese embassy had been withholding its formal diplomatic protest on the Webb bill for the secretary's return and it is now believed to be that government's plan to hold it still longer until inquiry can be made of the United States as to just what this government proposes to do if Gov. Johnson signs the bill and it becomes a law. Under such a plan of action the protest probably will not be delivered today. The presentation of the protest will open the formal diplomatic negotiations, which may lead to a test in the supreme court of whether such a law is in contravention of the treaty with Japan. The negotiations also may lead to a proposal of arbitration.

restock the covers for birds. Then it will be up to the hunters and fishermen to practice self restraint until the old time fishing and shooting has been restored. It seems like a long wait, but it doesn't take long after all.

The speakers at last night's meeting included Salem D. Charles, president of the Massachusetts Fish and Game Protective Association. Mr. Charles is also one of Boston's street commissioners. Other speakers were George H. Graham, commissioner of fisheries and game, and John B. Smith, secretary of the Massachusetts Fish and Game League.

Willis S. Holt called the meeting to order and Simon D. Harris was chosen presiding officer for the evening. Upon calling to order Mr. Holt expressed his satisfaction at so good a meeting and he said the meeting was an important one because it meant more fish and game for Lowell. He said that the formation of a fish and game association would mean a better enforcement of the laws and a greater general interest in the streams, ponds and woods about Lowell.

Commissioner Graham of Springfield was the first speaker called upon by Chairman Harris. He was very much pleased with the meeting and gave as his opinion that Lowell would have one of the largest associations in the state. He spoke of the big organization in Springfield and said that the meetings were very beneficial inasmuch as they were instrumental in educating the sportsmen. "Times and conditions are changing," said Mr. Graham, "yet some sportsmen cling to the ideas they had in boyhood days. We must practice self restraint. We must curtail until we get stocked. Until the game has been brought we will have to curtail our sport. Sportsmen are increasing and game decreasing. There are more fishermen than hunters—perhaps 15,000 in Massachusetts. The improved fire-arms, bird dogs, etc., have depleted our covers. Under the new law we will have better shooting in ten years. We are going to send out a supply of white and yellow perch to Lowell from the Palmer hatchery for your brooks and ponds and I believe that the Merrimack river, despite its pollution, can produce fish. You should get your boys and representatives and senators and tell them to see to it that Lowell gets all that is coming to her in the way of fish and game. Right here in Massachusetts we have the best warden system in the United States; the wardens are not selected for political reasons. The merit system is applied to them and every sportsman should work in union with the wardens. They need our cooperation and it is necessary for them to have it in order to do the work as it should be done."

John B. Smith, secretary of the Massachusetts Fish and Game League, was the next speaker. He said, in part: "There isn't a fisherman nor a hunter of Massachusetts who is satisfied with conditions as they exist today, relative to the interests of inland fisheries and game. Notwithstanding improvements noted recently, in acquiring one good fish hatchery on the Cape, and the building of another near Palmer, together with the installation of a game farm nearby, it is nevertheless a fact that inland fishing and hunting conditions are deplorable. The existence of these conditions is due, chiefly, to two causes, one being the chronic indifference manifested by the state in the past, in not having enacted suitable and timely legislation calculated to conserve, through propagation and restocking, our fish and game, while the other is the wanton prodigality indulged in by the average sportsman during the past twenty years. These, I think are the two main causes of the conditions which have long confronted us."

"What the sportsmen of Massachusetts want is a remedy and we believe we have found one that is not only a cure for present ills, but a strong assurance that we shall not have a recurrence of similar ailments in the future, once we are in shape to apply the remedy."

"The vital importance of a statewide league has been realized for a long time. Such a league was organized in Worcester last March and its headquarters are located in Springfield. The league has adopted the slogan of 'more fish and more game in Massachusetts.'"

"We all want to restore the good old days when you and I, and all of us, could hike to the hills and covers with rod or gun, doubly aspired with the assurance that we were to have an opportunity, at least, to capture a fair and reasonably sized basket of fish or bag of game. All that we need to restore former conditions is to unite with this state-wide league, making it so large and powerful in its influence and its voting constituency, as to command the attention and consideration due us at the hands of our legislators."

Salem D. Charles, president of the Massachusetts Fish and Game Protective Association, spoke on the necessity of better protection for the game. He stated that one day or a week each year, when the hunting is good is much better than a half year when the supply of game is insufficient to supply the demands of the hunters. He also urged the formation of a fish and game association that would further the work in which he is interested.

Later in the evening the body voted to form an organization to be known as the "Lowell Fish and Game Association" and the following officers were chosen: President, L. A. Derby; first vice president, Fred G. Humphreys; second vice president, Harry Gonzalez; secretary, William McGowan; treasurer, Caleb Smith. The body later chose an executive committee, consisting of five members and the president, secretary and treasurer. The following were chosen to serve on the executive committee: W. S. Holt, Sen. H. J. Draper, Charles A. Blaisdel, Henry Quibach and Mr. Grant.

UNDERWOOD TARIFF BILL

Engrossed Today for

Presentation to House

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Delayed in its passage last night by a parliamentary technicality, the Underwood tariff bill was engrossed today for presentation to the house at its hour of meeting, 2 p. m.

Because of the democratic insistence on a point of order when the republican motion to recommit the bill to the ways and means committee with a view to forcing a tariff commission provision in the reading of the bill in its engrossed form was made necessary. The parliamentary tacticians of both the majority and the minority prepared today for the final fray over the point of order but the result in view of the large democratic majority in the house was a foregone conclusion. Meantime the democratic leaders in the senate were preparing for the consideration of the bill there.

There is talk among the house leaders of taking a recess of about 30 days during the senate consideration of the tariff. While there have been individual conferences on the subject the fact that the president has not communicated his views on currency legislation at this session of congress has precluded any formal consideration so far as to what the house shall do when it disposes of the tariff.

THE SMOKE NUISANCE

Salt Lake City Man States Important Facts

The detrimental effect of excessive smoke on the health of citizens and the loss of efficiency in heating boilers accompanying the smoke nuisance in cities were outlined in a recent article in one of the daily newspapers of Salt Lake City by Jesse Coogan of the C. E. Coogan Engineering Co., of that city as follows:

During the past three years I have made an especial study of fuels and combustions, as they are a most important adjunct of my profession and business as a heating engineer, designer and contractor for large heating and power plant equipment. Although I have had 24 years' practical and technical experience, it was only 3 years ago that I entered seriously into the question at issue, viz., fuels and combustions.

Education and "scientific firing" will not cure the smoke nuisance in Salt Lake City, since it is impossible to legislate brains, intelligence, and energy into the man behind the shovel that feeds 55 per cent. of the heating and power boilers of this city if the equipment he handles is not of a kind and arranged by which he can secure smokeless results and at the same time produce the work intended.

Gala to Owners
Any legislation that will cause an abatement of the smoke nuisance will cause owners a gain and a profit as much as smoke issuing from chimneys represents just so much waste, as smoke is nothing more than minute particles of pure carbon carried off from the fire in gases that are insufficiently heated to burn.

A quantity of heat given to a boiler is determined by the final state of the gas escaping to the chimney. If nearly perfect combustion has taken place in the furnace of a boiler we are able to obtain an efficiency of as high as 75 per cent., by which is meant that 75 per cent. of the actual heat in the fuel is transmitted into work, as represented by the heat generated by the boiler for heating or power purposes. The other 25 per cent. is a loss that cannot be avoided, as it represents loss resulting from radiation due to boiler construction and gases escaping into the stack, which are necessary to cause draft, etc.

Whenever dense smoke issues from a stack we can safely say it represents 75 per cent. of the actual heat in the fuel that causes this smoke and the same carried with it; therefore, Mr. Owner is losing just 50 per cent. or one-half of what he could save if his furnace were of a type that turns this smoke and escaping gases into useful work by burning them at a high temperature and converting them into useful work. Therefore any legislation compelling the use of furnaces that will not cause smoke will result in a direct economy and consequent saving in fuel to owner.

It is therefore for this reason that cities that have compelled absolute obedience of smoke laws and ordinances, owners have learned the great economy of using smokeless types of furnaces and are satisfied with them after it has been driven into their heads by practical experience, that instead of being a hardship the compliance with anti-smoke laws is a benefit inasmuch as it invariably results in a saving of fuel as well as a much higher efficiency from boilers.

Cause of Smoke Nuisance
Most owners consider the cost of heating and power as a necessary evil and take for granted that they must burn up a certain amount of coal per season anyway, therefore, what is the use of going to the expense of changing furnaces. That his neighbor and the public at large is inconvenienced or injured in health and pocketbook does not appeal to him until such times as his furnace is in charge of Miss Hortense Tabor.

Detriment to Health
Before suggesting effective legislation to stop this smoke nuisance, I wish to say that any remedy or idea that the smoke nuisance is not

"really unhealthy" is most erroneous and vicious.
A good majority of grown persons are more or less afflicted with some form of catarrhal trouble, and I notice from personal experience that mine is aggravated very much during my stay in Salt Lake. Everybody subjected to this smoke nuisance must frequently notice the dark and black color of throat secretions in the winter time. This is nothing more or less than the minute particles of carbon emitted from stacks, which have been inhaled in the home or office, or on the street, together with the more deadly and invisible carbonic gas that passes from these stacks as a result of imperfect combustion of fuel in the furnaces of boilers.

A time-worn excuse for not installing smokeless boilers is the claim that there are no satisfactory ones on the market. This is a poor and false excuse, as there are several on the market at the present time, and the prices are most reasonable when the benefits are considered.

FIST DUEL OVER GIRL

Half Hour Fight on the Boston Common

BOSTON, May 8.—The greenward of the common, a short distance from the corner of Beacon and Spruce streets, served as a fist arena for two well appearing young men, who fought for fully half an hour over a woman about 5 o'clock last evening.

An audience, among whom were Back Bay residents and professional men, gazed upon the spectacle.

The principals, evidently employed by business houses, had made all preparations to have the fist encounter on the common and with certain rules drawn up. The fighters even had seconds who spurred on their respective men.

A number of women were in the crowd and at times turned their heads as a well delivered blow brought blood to the face of one of the men. With their seconds, etc., the party arrived at the common shortly after 5 o'clock.

The woman who was the prize was not present, but it was evident that her affections were the bone of contention, and that the matter could only be adjusted by a fight.

One of the principals was well built and muscular, while his adversary was

SUFFERED

During Change of Life—How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her a Well Woman.

Jola, Kansas.—"During the Change of Life I was sick for two years. Before I took your medicine I could not bear the weight of my clothes and was bloated very badly. I doctored with three doctors but they did me no good. They said nature must have its way. My sister advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I purchased a bottle. Before it was gone the bloating left me and I was not so sore. I continued taking it until I had taken twelve bottles. Now I am stronger than I have been for years and can do all my work, even the washing. Your medicine is worth its weight in gold. I cannot praise it enough. If more women would take your medicine there would be more healthy women. You may use this letter for the good of others."—Mrs. D. H. Brown, 809 N. Walnut St., Jola, Kan.

Change of Life is one of the most critical periods of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

All our testimonials are guaranteed genuine and truthful. The original of each came to us entirely unsolicited. They are sincere expressions of gratitude for actual benefits received from the medicine.

DELAYS VOTE ON TARIFF

Minority Leader Holds Up Passage

WASHINGTON, May 8.—After all of the fireworks preparatory to the passage of the Underwood bill in the house had been set off last night, a republican parliamentary maneuver blocked progress by the democratic majority and the house was forced to adjourn until today with the bill still pending.

Bill Not Enrolled
When the victory speeches on the bill had been delivered and the crowded floor and galleries were prepared for the final action, Republican Leader Mann replied to Majority Leader Underwood's opposition to a roll call on the republican amendment proposing a tariff commission by declaring he would demand the reading of the "enrolled bill." It was impossible for the enrolling clerk to complete the enrollment of the bill before this after-noon and amid the dissatisfied mutterings of the members who had waited through the evening in the expectation of a final vote, Representative Underwood moved that the house adjourn until 2 o'clock this afternoon when the vote on the bill will be taken.

Income Tax Amended
In the closing hours of the session the ways and means committee amended the income tax section of the bill so as to exempt from its provisions the citizens of Porto Rico and the Philippines.

Amid a chorus of cheers and thunderous applause from the floor and galleries, the leaders on both sides closed the debate on the bill. Representative Mann told the democrats that they must accept a tariff commission now, "or we will jam it down your throats in the next congress."

"Your bill has now been before the country for two months," he said, "and already has been universally condemned. Business is more or less stagnated in the fear that your rates will injure industry. I hope that fear will disappear."

Prosperity Involved
"But you are trying to continue prosperity by threatening prosperity, and if you succeed you will have accomplished the impossible. We turn over to you a prosperous country where the people are happy, where there is work for all to do."

As the republican applauded Representative Payne of New York and the democratic majority little criticism of the present law," he said, "There has been some denunciation, not much, from the gentlemen who appear on this floor for the first time and most of them for the last time. All of them say they don't like some of the provisions of this bill."

Will Not Wed Senator
Miss Daly Breaks Off Engagement

BOSTON, May 8.—It was Alice Lorraine Daly who broke her engagement with United States Senator James H. Brady of Idaho, and not the statesman. This was a part of the statement made by the young lady herself when she received a reporter at her home yesterday.

Miss Daly is studying at the Emerson College of Oratory in Boston, being a post-graduate, as she received her degree three summers ago.

Was School Teacher
The romance so suddenly terminated had its beginning several years back in Portland, Idaho, where Miss Daly was teaching school. Pocatello is the home of Senator Brady, who was at that time governor of his state. The couple met and became friendly on his occasional trips to his home from the capital.

The following year Miss Daly spent in Boston continuing her study of elocution. Next year she was at her home in Gray Cloud Island, near St. Paul, in which city Governor Brady spent much of his time making arrangements for the western governors' special train which toured the east in 1911, and of which he was the manager. The engagement was announced in December of that year.

Received Presents
Until recently Miss Daly has been known to have been receiving many handsome presents and flowers from her fiancé, and the news of the annulment of the engagement has caused a stir among the friends of both parties.

"It is true that my engagement to Senator Brady has been broken," said Miss Daly, "but there is not the slightest ill feeling between us. I recognized the fact that we should abandon the idea of marriage, but I still have the highest respect for the senator. He is a man of high ideals and fine conscience."

"I just could not feel that I cared enough for him to marry him."

WOMAN SUES WARDNER
Seeks $10,000 for Injuries by Collision in Washington Street—Entered Auto at His Invitation

BOSTON, May 8.—Alice G. Condy of Boston filed a suit for $10,000 for personal injuries against Herbert L. Wardner of Boston in superior court yesterday, as a result of the collision of his automobile with a street car on Washington street, near Summer, on March 6, which demolished his machine.

The plaintiff states that she entered the machine at the defendant's invitation for a ride to her home, and that she, being in no condition to handle the automobile, negligently drove it at high speed so that it struck an electric car. She alleges she was violently thrown against the street car and the side of the automobile and badly injured.

Lowell C. E. Union
A meeting of the Lowell C. E. union will be held in the First Baptist church on Monday night. A large attendance is expected as the speakers will be Rev. and Mrs. Edgar E. Strahler, who have spent about three years in China as the general secretary of the China C. E. union. Their work has been to establish Christian Endeavor societies among the Chinese Christians. They have also visited and attended meetings in several other foreign countries.

A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to be present.

Pres. Comiskey to Retire
CHICAGO, May 8.—Charles Comiskey, owner of the Chicago Americans, is planning his farewell to the game he has helped to make famous. After the White Sox finish their tour of the world next winter he will retire from the active management, he told friends last night.

Mitchell Succeeds Loeb
New York Man Gets Collectorship

WASHINGTON, May 8.—John Purroy Mitchell, independent democrat and president of the board of aldermen of New York city, was nominated yesterday by President Wilson to be collector of the port of New York to succeed William Loeb, Jr.

This selection brought what the White House termed "a happy solution" to a contest in which New York state leaders of every wing of the party had taken a lively part for the last two months.

One of the reasons why Mr. Mitchell at first was said to be disinclined to have his candidacy advanced was on account of the approaching mayoralty contest next fall.

Some of his friends declared last night that Mr. Mitchell had by no means eliminated himself and that the administration would not object if he resigned eventually to become a candidate for mayor of New York.

The president urged Mr. Mitchell by telegraph, however, to accept the collectorship, and he did so.

THE COUNTRY SCHOOLS

Longer Terms Favored by Commission

"We ought to have nine months of free schooling for every child in the rural districts," says Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States Commissioner of education. In a letter to the superintendents of public instruction in the various states Dr. Claxton calls attention to the present short rural term and makes an earnest plea for a campaign by the state officers to bring the school term for country schools up to that for city schools. Many of the state superintendents have already pledged their assistance in a nationwide movement to bring this about.

Dr. Claxton points out how far we are in this country from approximating at present even the lowest minimum he names—a school term of 160 days. The average length of the rural-school term is only 135 days, or a little less than seven months, while for the cities it is 184 days, or more than nine months. Only two states, Connecticut and Rhode Island, have school terms exceeding nine months in rural districts. Eleven others have country-school terms of between eight and nine months. They are:

California, Iowa, Michigan, Maryland, Kansas, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, South Dakota, Washington and Wisconsin.

Many states are considerably below the seven months' average. In a number of them the country schools keep open for only six months: Florida and Arkansas keep their schools in rural districts open for five months; while North Carolina, South Carolina, and New Mexico have apparently been providing their country children with barely four months and a half of schooling every year.

Nearly all the city schools, the commissioner shows, already have nine months' term, 180 days or more, with well-trained teachers, and there is no reason, he declares, why the country children should not have as many days of schooling and as good teachers as city children. Dr. Claxton asks a minimum school term for the rural districts of eight or nine months (eight temporarily; a minimum qualification for rural teachers of four years of high school and not less than two years of college or normal school education, and good libraries for all rural schools. "With these," he says, "should go an effort to adjust the work of the rural schools more closely to the needs of country life."

A number of the states with short rural terms are making splendid efforts to bring the country schools up to the standard of their city schools, in length of term and other essentials. Dr. Claxton believes that all the states will be aided by a concerted movement for better rural schools throughout the nation.
